Numerous Problems Confront Navarro In His First Princeton Football Season

Twice in the past half century, when Princeton football was suffering from the barbs of unaccustomed defeat, the new coach was welcomed to the University campus in an aura of good will and unanimous belief that championship bonfires would soon again blaze on Cannon Green behind Nassau Hall.

In the Depression Days of 1932, the ill-fated Al Wittmer bowed out after a single disastrous season, bequeathing a woebegone 1-7 record to Herbert Orrin "Fritz" Crisler, a grim-faced taskmaster from the Big Ten whose salary immediately became an object of suspicious debate among the underpaid faculty members. Crisler's mere selection as the Tigers' first non-alumnus coach since 1869 symbolized the University's admission that if winning wasn't everything, at least the need to pay tribute to its image was here to stay. After a somewhat unique 2-2-3 record his first year, Crisler proceeded to win 26 of his next 27 games as well as feelers to a place in the 1934 Rose Bowl, which were promptly rejected by Nassau Hall.

A baker's dozen years after Crisler had burst on the scene, World War II ended and Princeton sought to rebuild its flagging football fortunes, which had seen Coaches Tad Weiman and Harry Mahnken, beset by player shortages, achieve but seven victories in 27 games between Pearl Harbor and V-J Day. This time, the call went out again to an alumnus, the highly knowledgeable Charlie Caldwell, who had greatly impressed Palmer Stadium fans when his small-college (Williams) team gave Weiman's Tigers a 19-7 lesson on an Indian Summer day in October, 1942.

Caught in the post-war whirlpool of veterans readjusting to campus life and hobbled by a virtually non-existent recruiting program for younger players, it took Caldwell the better part of four years to reach the heights, although his early achievements were embellished by astonishing upsets of highly-favored teams from Cornell, Yale and Pennsylvania. By mid-1949, he had installed sophomore Dick Kazmaier as his starting tailback, and he did not lose from October 15 of that year until October 11, 1952.

More than three decades after Caldwell came to Princeton to pick up the myriad pieces in disarray, the hands of the clock again point to the Tigers' darkest hour. Not in ten years, since Jake McCandless recovered from a 29-0 pasting at New Brunswick in his coaching debut to guide the Orange and Black to a three-way tie for the Ivy title, has Princeton known football contentment. Awareness that the Tigers were almost invariably in the thick of the Ivy race was gradually replaced by turmoil, as McCandless's second year 5-4 performance was

Formal Opening to Be Held Saturday For New Site in Community Park North

If you've been away all summer, a month, or just a pair of weeks, you'll want to know what happened while you were gone.

New Park. The first thing you'll learn about is something you can do now that you're back. This Saturday, the new Community Park North recreation area will be formally opened (rain date: Sunday). There aren't any built-in grills, but you can take your own (no fires, please) and enjoy one of the picnic areas in the wooded park, and the natural wood playground sculptures for kids to play on.

The formal opening is actually by invitation only. Around 300 people, including former members of Township Committee and their families (going back to 1964), Borough officials and people who've been interested in the development of the park over the years, have been invited to brief 11 a.m. ceremonies Saturday.

Seward Johnson's fishermen statues will be unveiled, there will be bluegrass music by "Rocky Hill" and officials will be given a tour of the bike paths and invited to inspect the pond. Everybody hopes that before next Labor Day, the little amphitheatre will be there, right between the pond and the berm that shields the park from Route 206.

Yes, you may fish. But you must be at least 15 years old, with a state license. Yes, you may picnic. But you may not bring alcoholic beverages into the park, not even beer.

Jug-handle, Traffic Light. The new park couldn't have opened this weekend if the jug-handle hadn't been completed and the new traffic light switched on. The light first flashed its red and green Tuesday morning, and the barriers to the jug-handle were removed. You reach Community Park North's parking lot via the jug-handle.

This week, workers will begin closing off Bayard Lane, removing some pavement and planting shrubs and trees, surrounded by wood-chips, so that the buffer resembles the adjoining rustic park.

Mercer Road Bridge. Still closed. A final report, expected this week from the engineering consultants examining the old bridge, turned out to be an interim report only.

Parking Garage. The 800-car structure Borough Council hoped to build on the library parking lot and the Tulane lot, was turned down in July by a 9-1 vote of the Planning Board. For additional news about the status of the garage—or, possibly, of a pair of smaller garages, see "Topics of the Town," page 3.

Bike Paths. The ones along Bayard Lane and Stockton Street, financed wholly with Federal and State money, have been completed.

Two Borough paths—one on Lovers Lane and the other on the east side of Elm Road from Cleveland to Westerly Road, may get under way this week. Contracts

Understaffed First Aid Unit Suffering from Municipal Neglect

If you're going to have a heart attack, plan to have it in the middle of the night. If you're allergic to bees, arrange to be stung during the twilight hours.

"We do not have enough experienced daytime volunteers, but that's only one of our problems," is the anxious word from Ed Obert, captain of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad and at 37 years of age and with only seven years of service on the Squad, nevertheless one of its veterans.

This Thursday, Mr. Obert will welcome members of the Joint Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad Committee to their first meeting. It will be held from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Squad House on North Harrison.

Purpose: to organize, and list the problems facing the Squad. Members: Borough Council member Richard Woodbridge, Township Committee member Kate Litvack, citizens Pat Cherry (Township) and Bonnie Wagner (Borough), Mr. Obert and one other Squad member.

Yes, there are a lot of eager students—high school and University—on the Squad. They respond to daytime calls. But exam time? Vacations? And most critical of all—experience?

"You can't send five high-school kids on a possible heart attack without an experienced senior on the rig," Mr. Obert declares. "Think of the legal problems, for one thing!"

"What I want the municipal governing bodies to hear is this: 'You've got a Squad in this town!' There has been no interaction at all—none!—between the Squad and Borough and Township governments."

Squads in neighboring towns—and Princeton has had to call on neighboring squads six times since May for daytime help—have things like full-time, paid paramedics; municipal financial support, police dispatching.

Lawrence Township, for example, has approved salaries of $11,400 each for two paramedics. Plainboro gives its squad $11,000, West Windsor, $10,000, plus a pair of $20,000 ambulances.

All of the Princeton Squad's money comes from contributions, everyone on its staff is a volunteer.

Money is raised through a promotion brochure prepared by the Lenhart Advertising Agency in Princeton. It cost $6,000, but last year it brought in twice as much money as less professional appeals. The cost this year will be only $3,000 because the same brochure will be used. Mr. Lenhart cut his charges for the Squad.

Three calls a day—that's the 12-month average for Princeton. The Squad pays $165 a month for an answering service. But these services all have a high turn-over of staff, and a newcomer doesn't know the system and can cost the Squad precious time.

"Inexperienced personnel has frequently led to serious mistakes," Mr. Obert says grimly. "We think we should be dispatched by the police departments, like all the other squads in the area."

But Borough and Township police have their own staffing problems and have not, Mr. Obert says, been eager. If police do get an emergency call, they call the Squad's answering service.

Princeton's Squad has three paramedics with two more "coming along." "At the moment," Mr. Obert says, "there's only me." That was over the Labor Day week-end.

A paramedic takes 600 hours of training and can function in advanced life-support situations: intravenous therapy, all emergency medications (diabetic problems, bee-sting allergies), cardiac monitoring and interpretation, even defibrillation techniques.

"We got one teacher with full cardiac arrest from dead, to on his own," Mr. Obert says with pride. "If it had happened before 1960, he'd be dead."

Right now, the Squad has 31 members. It ranges from 30 to 50, shifts as students graduate, leave for the summer and return. The Squad has two ambulances, a heavy-duty rescue truck shared with West Windsor and Montgomery and used to extricate people from cars, and a water-and-snow emergency vehicle that can go anywhere.

"Volunteers can do the job," Mr. Obert emphasizes, "but we're handicapped by having to earn a living! And I don't want to jeopardize our voluntary financial support. It's just that we have problems and we want people to know, 'You've got a Squad here!'"

Hospital Gets Beds

State Health Commissioner Joanne Finley notified the Medical Center at Princeton late Tuesday afternoon that she is approving the Center's certificate of need for 30 additional medical-surgical beds.

"The people of the Princeton area made this possible for us," said hospital spokesman Michael Loyack. "We are very pleased with the support from the hospital's thousands of friends."

Dr. Finley told the Center she based her approval on the Central Jersey Health Planning Council's report on hospital services in the greater Mercer region. The study was done in July of this year.

The state's Green Acres program is the financial backer.

Mercer County's Elm Road path, extending from Stockton to Cleveland and connecting up with the Borough's own Elm Road path, and the county's path along Rosedale, may be started this year. Designs have been completed.

In the Township, stanchions along the Great Road bike path have been removed. They'll be back--some of them, probably not all--before winter to provide guideposts for snow-plows.

Renovations. Roof repairs are almost finished. Only the metal work remains, and there is no longer any dangerous hot-pitch work to be done.

Contractors' bids for the whole renovation project were to have been in September 14, but the process is taking longer than expected and the deadline has been extended to September 21.

After bids have been delivered to the school board, school architects and board members will take several days to study the highly technical bids before reaching a decision.

Anything new around town? A new church on Nassau Street. It's the Nassau Christian Center on the Chambers Street corner (see page 21), and you'll find its windows giving out a welcoming glow on Thursday nights when special services are held.

What looks like construction on the Yamasaki building of the Woodrow Wilson School—if you came back to town along Washington Road—is the covering of an open court.

The Loop Bus has a couple of schedule changes which you can learn about in "Topics of the Town," but other than that, things are pretty much the same.

Weather wasn't very good, but then, it rarely is. If you came back around Labor Day, you were welcomed by the best weather Princeton has had all summer. Nice to have you back.

GAS TO TRAVEL INLAND

To Princetnn Link? The day after Township Mayor Josie Hall got back from vacation, she learned through newspaper stories that the best route for a 100-mile pipeline for natural gas, is from the shore areas of New Jersey to Princeton.

"I will be looking into this immediately," Mayor Hall said darkly.

Actually, since Princeton Township already has the Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Corporation line, neighboring towns are more likely to be affected than Princeton.

The pipeline runs in a swath from a point on Province Line midway between Rosedale and Stony Brook, east across The Great Road and Cherry Hill below Crest View, bisecting the new Redding Terrace housing project and nudging Princeton Community Village before slicing through Herrontown Woods, crossing Cordoba near its intersection with Autumn Hill, and moving out into Somerset County.

According to W.J. Bowen, chairman and president of Transcontinental, preliminary studies show that the new pipeline should connect with Transco's mainline system "near" Princeton. The exact route depends on how much natural gas is actually found at sea.

Former Rosedale Road Resident Will Become Borough Administrator, Succeeding Mooney

From the days when he was a student at Lawrence High School, Mark Gordon has been interested in government. That interest is now his profession, and he has been named by Borough Council to succeed Robert F. Mooney as Borough Administrator when Mr. Mooney retires next spring.

Meanwhile, Mr. Gordon will be assistant administrator, moving into Borough Hall from his present job as assistant administrator in Freehold Township, 27 miles south of Princeton. His Princeton salary will be $23,000.

The handsome 28-year-old is quiet and serious, in contrast to the jocular Mr. Mooney. He is one of some 300 who applied for the job from as far away as California, and like most of the others, he saw the advertisement in the International City Management Association newsletter. He also saw the Borough's ad in TOWN TOPICS.

"Freehold is like Princeton, in that the borough is surrounded by the township, like the doughnut and the hole," Mr. Gordon explains. "Freehold Township is bigger than Princeton Township—40 square miles with a population of 20,000."

Freehold's two governments have co-operative programs for water systems and mutual assistance in the two fire and police departments, Mr. Gordon says.

Consolidation Evaluated. He himself brings up the question of consolidation for Princeton and says it was discussed during his job interview with mayor and Council.

NEW MAN IN BOROUGH HALL: Mark Gordon, in the new job of assistant administrator for the Borough, enjoys Borough Hall's rear garden and fountain. He likes Princeton, likes the Borough's philosophy of government which assigns day-to-day operations to the administrator—which Mr. Gordon will be, when Robert F. Mooney retires in the spring—and policy responsibilities to Council. He'll start work October 4.

"It is possible that it could be advantageous for the Borough," he says cautiously, "depending on the governmental structure. But we can only discuss it speculatively until we get some specifics."

He has always liked government because he sees it as a challenge, and from what he's heard about Princeton, he says he's sure it will be a challenge here, too.

In Freehold, he helped the administrator prepare the budget, handled personnel matters and did all the township purchasing. Buying through the state and occasionally through Monmouth County, he has been able to save money for the township and he thinks his experience in this line can be very helpful to Princeton Borough.

Tennis and Traveling. After hours, he likes a good game of tennis and after a work year, he likes a travel vacation. This summer he visited Holland and Belgium. In past years, he's been to Iran, Israel, Guatemala and various Caribbean islands.

"I like to see other cultures and the way other people live," he says thoughtfully. "It gives you a better perspective and keeps you from becoming parochial."

Mr. Gordon, who is single, also visits his parents, Irwin and Lenore Gordon, who live on Rosedale Road. His father is a research scientist at RCA's David Sarnoff Research Center.

The Rosedale Road house is the one Mr. Gordon lived in when he was going to Lawrence High. In high school, he was president of the Student Council in both his junior and senior years. Moving on to Hobart College, where he majored in political science, he was elected vice-president of the student government association in his senior year. He was graduated from Hobart in 1972.

After graduation, he started at Freehold in New Jersey's management intern program and then moved into his present job. At night, he studied in Rider College's program for administrators and now holds an M.A. from that program.

Clear of Politics. In spite of his interest in government, he's never been in partisan politics.

"It's not an area a career administrator should get involved in," Mr. Gordon says. "I'm actively interested in current events and I follow campaigns closely, but I've never been involved."

Mr. Gordon will start work in Borough Hall on Wednesday, October 4. The starting date was moved from October 2 so that the new assistant administrator could celebrate Rosh Hashanah. For a time, he'll drive the 27 miles each day from his Freehold apartment but he'll be hunting for a Borough apartment and hopes to find one as soon as he can.

Under state law, he must move into the Borough within six months of his formal appointment as administrator.

"But I want to move here as soon as possible," he says. "Just to move around the town and get a feel for what it's like."

Around Borough Hall itself, there's some question about where to put Mr. Gordon while he and Mr. Mooney are both on the staff. Like most municipal buildings, Borough Hall doesn't have much extra desk space.

"In Freehold," Mr. Gordon remarks, "I was in a basement storage room for a while. Wherever they put me, here in Borough Hall, will be just fine."

TIME AND THE GARAGE
Council Faces Problem. It's a delicate—and vital—balance: taking more time to study the parking garage problem but not waiting so long that the money market changes, wiping out the economic viability of projects that hinge on the garage.

Borough Council and Mayor Robert W. Cawley will talk about this delicate balance at the agenda session this Thursday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

They will also discuss a suggestion from Samuel Hamill, executive director of the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council. He has asked Council to consider retaining an "urban designer"—a combination of architect and planner—to develop the Central Business District.

Master Plan in more detail. "It would cost $30,000 to $50,000," Mayor Cawley reported this week, and if it really produced, it would be worth it. But it might take over three months, and it would be a darn shame to spend that time and find that none of the projects were viable any longer."

Why Farm It Out? Such "in-house" professionals as the Borough engineer and the Planning Board's planner, believe "we can do it ourselves," Mayor Cawley says, but it's a question of finding time for them to do the work.

The expansion of Palmer Square, the 100-unit apartment building for the elderly proposed by Princeton Community Housing and the library expansion—can it all be done with the smaller garages preferred by the Planning Board? Mayor Cawley says Palmer Square doesn't think so.

The mayor said he and Council members Nelson van den Blink and Richard Woodbridge will confer next week with John Moran, chairman of the board of Palmer Square, Inc., and Princeton University's vice-president for facilities.

Whichever route Council decides to travel, it will ask the public to go along, early in the journey, the mayor promised. He added that Mr. Hamill says the best urban designers involve the public from the start.

"The commitment on Council's part to go ahead with a garage is as firm as before, or even firmer," the mayor declared. "But we've learned a lot. Especially about public reaction. I would say we are at a stage of re-examination. I guess you could say that I am more concerned about the time factor than Council is."

Mayor and Council have asked the Planning Board to postpone any garage discussions until Council informs the board of the route it wants to take.

TOWN BUSINESS

At Township Hall. A routine agenda reflecting the start of another year, will face Township Committee at this Wednesday's 8 p.m. meeting.

It is also expected that a non-agenda item will be placed before Committee: the possibility that many hike paths can be financed totally with Federal and state money. Abbot Low Moffat has said that he plans to ask Committee whether it would like to take advantage of this possibility.

On the agenda are a petition by residents of MacLean Circle for additional street lights, the request of a Woods Way property-owner for an extension of the sewer, and, in work session, a matter which could be vital for every Committee member—public official liability insurance.

Public hearings will be held on the amendment regarding surface water drainage of site developments, and the road re-surfacing program. Along similar lines, Committee will discuss possible erosion control projects.

Four new ordinances will be introduced: providing for alternate membership on the Township Zoning Board; setting up appeals under the land use ordinance; regulating activities in public parks and authorizing acquisition of a self-propelled pick-up sweeper.

Reports will be received on the Mercer Road bridge and bids for a police communication system. Bids for property revaluation will be reviewed and acted upon.

FUN AND GAMES SET

For University Freshmen. Sampling the disco scene of Manhattan's East Side and canoeing on the white-water stretches of the Delaware are among the activities planned for Princeton freshmen in the two weeks preceding the official beginning this month of the university's 1978-79 academic year.

The 1,147 members of Princeton University's Class of 1982 (747 men and 400 women) will bring the total undergraduate enrollment to 4,458 comprising 2,919 men and 1,539 women. Including 1,516 graduate students, the total student population is 5,974. The School of Engineering and Applied Science continues its high undergraduate enrollment with an anticipated total of 853, including 232 freshmen.

The freshmen will register on Monday, Sept. 11, with registration for other students scheduled throughout the week. Opening exercises will be held in the University Chapel at 11 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 17, and classes will begin the next morning.

More than 300 of the entering freshmen will participate in one of the pre-Freshman Week orientation activities sponsored by the Dean of Student Affairs Office. About 250 will take advantage of the sixth Outdoor Action orientation, expeditions from Sept. 6 to 11 that offer students hiking, backpacking, canoeing, rock-climbing, biking and spelunking. The freshmen, divided into groups of 10 to 12, with upperclassmen and members of the university faculty and staff as leaders, will follow itineraries through such areas as the Adirondacks, the Catskills, the Delaware Water Gap, the New Jersey Pine Barrens, and the Amish country of Pennsylvania.

For the third year in a row, freshmen unfamiliar with New York City and the resources it offers will take a four-day tour of the Big Apple. Many of the students are from rural backgrounds and, since priority is given to students from outside the tri-state urban area, a number have not seen the nation's largest city before. In New York, Princeton alumni and other friends of the university will house the student visitors.

Approximately 60 freshmen, led by eight people associated with the university, will explore New York in groups, deciding among themselves what they would like to see and do. "A lot of people like to

with Sam deTuro

A tree fails to leaf out on the first two or three feet of branches around the perimeter. One half of a tree from top to bottom has the foliage wilting. Is it a strange disease or should an accusing finger be pointed towards the ground?

Girdling roots frequently cut into the base of a tree and choke it, much like a noose around a person's neck. The damage is in many cases irreversible because the visible symptoms of it above ground do not show up right away. By the time large sections of the tree begin dying, removal of the strangling root is impractical.

The best indication of girdling roots is examination of the trunk at the soil line. If this area does not flare out but goes straight into the ground, be suspicious of roots underground growing across and against the trunk.

If the crown of the tree is not too far gone, cut the troublesome root or roots with a sharp chisel. Although removal of some roots reduces the amount of water and nutrients previously supplied to the tree, the loss is small compared to the restored capacity of the entire circumference of the trunk to function in the uptake of liquids to the foliage. Then feed the tree heavily to restore vigor and to promote healing.

MEET THE REPUBLICANS: At the poolside terrace of the Nassau Inn, on Saturday, (4-6 p.m.), Republican candidates in Borough and Township will be hosts to the community. Everyone is invited. Candidates for the U.S. Senate and the Mercer County Board of Freeholders have been invited, too, and Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick is also expected to attend. Here, left to right, are George Adriaance, Township Committee candidate; Maurice F. Healy Jr., Republican Club of Princeton president; Charles Cornforth, Borough Council candidate, and Priscilla Waring, vice-president of the club.

try the different ethnic foods — Brazilian one day, Italian the next," says Assistant Dean of Student Affairs Frank Ayala, who organized the city tour. He adds the Greenwich Village and discos on the East Side are popular, in addition to more usual tourist fare like the museums.

The whole entourage will be treated to a reception at the Princeton Club of New York, a briefing at the United Nations on the southern African situation, and a performance of "Annie." "Seeing New York is particularly valuable," says Ayala, "since it is a resource that can be used all during the school year. Also, it gives the students a chance to get together with other students before the hustle and bustle of the academic year."

Mr. Ayala himself will be one of two leaders taking a group of 10 to a new destination: Washington, D.C. There students will have a special tour of the White House and an opportunity to meet with alumni associated with the federal government and with leaders such as Rep.

Millicent Fenwick (R-N.J.), as well as the chance to enjoy the cultural benefits of the capital.

38 OFFICES ENTERED

In Corwin Hall. Thirty-eight offices in Corwin Hall on the University campus were entered last week.

Taken, police said, were radios, pocket calculators and small amounts of money. The entries were discovered last Tuesday morning.

Entry to the building was gained through a basement window. An investigation by Borough police and University Security revealed that in each instance a window pane in a door had been broken, allowing the intruders to reach in and unlock the door. All the rooms were located on the same floor.

Chief Michael Carnevale reported that police have not yet determined how much money was stolen. The initial investigation by Det. Douglas Watson and Ptl. Randy Sutton is being continued by Det. Gerald Patterson.

In another entry in the Borough, a $175 telescope and $50 clock radio were stolen from an apartment on lower Nassau Street.

Also taken in the entry, reported at 10:45 Sunday evening, were a pocket watch and pocket knife. Entry was gained through a second-floor window.

A stereo receiver and turntable valued at $500 were stolen between 7:30 and 11:30 Saturday evening from the living room of a Leigh Avenue apartment. Several bureau drawers in a bedroom were also ransacked.

The victim told Township police that he had discovered the theft when he returned home. The thief had broken a window screen on the front porch and entered an unlocked living room window. Det. Samuel Bianco is continuing the investigation.

CAR HITS GUARD RAIL

On Route 27, Lester L. Bernardo III of Trenton lost control of his car on the Princeton-Kingston Road Monday night when he swerved to avoid a car exiting from Poe Road and struck a guard rail.

The 22-year old driver sustained head lacerations but refused medical treatment. A 17-year old passenger, not identified by police, received similar injuries but also refused treatment, while a 23-year old passenger escaped injury.

The car exiting from Poe Road did not stop, according to Ptl. David Cramwell, who investigated.

Gloria C. Erlich, 53, 41 Littlebrook Road, suffered contusions and abrasions of the head and her car had to be towed when it was struck around 5:20 Friday afternoon at the intersection of Route 27 and River Road.

Ptl. John Clausen issued a summons to the second driver, Albert Eversen, 21, 69 Hollow Road, Skillman, for failing to yield after stopping. Mrs. Erlich was treated at Princeton Medical Center.

Jogger Causes Sideswipe. A jogger running Friday morning on Quaker Road between Province Line and Mercer was blamed for the sideswiping of two cars on a curve.

According to police, Richard R. Myers, 27, of Bristol, Pa., swerved left to avoid the jogger and in so doing did not leave enough room for Earline R. Hobbs, 42, of Trenton, to get out of the way.

Ptl. William Potts noted in his report that there is no shoulder where the mishap occurred, so the jogger was running in the roadway. Ms. Hobbs complained of head pains following the mishap.

Span Around 140 Degrees. A car was spun around 140 degrees when it was struck on the side Thursday by another at the intersection of Franklin and Jefferson. Carol Patko, 23, RD 4, was ticketed for failing to observe the Franklin Avenue stop sign.

John Baldino, 68, 22 Carahan Place, received lacerations and abrasions of the right side of his head and muscle strain of the neck and back. He was treated at the Medical Center and held for observation. He told police that he "did not see the other car until it hit me on the right side."

Clean-Up Week Will Begin Monday in Township

Fall Clean-up week in the township will begin Monday, September 11 and continue through that Friday. As is the past, pick-up will be according to election districts.

All trash must be placed at curbside no later than 8 a.m. and containers must be no larger than one man can carry. Leaves and lawn debris will be collected ONLY if they are in plastic bags or cartons. (The leaf vacuum won't be around until mid-October.)

No branches will be picked up. There will be a separate brush collection week, probably September 25-30.

The schedule for Clean-up is as follows:
Monday, September 11 — Districts 1, 4, 14
Tuesday — 5, 6, 10
Wednesday — 3, 9, 12
Thursday — 2, 11
Friday — 7, 8, 13

After the impact spun his car around, it traveled 54 feet backwards, jumped the curb and struck a traffic sign. It continued another six feet before coming to rest. The front lawn of William W. Lockwood Jr., 110 Jefferson, was ripped up by deep tire marks.

The same day, just eight minutes earlier at 4:40 p.m., two cars collided on University Place same 150 yards from Alexander Street.

Deborah Drago, 24, of Levittown, Pa., apparently skidded into the north-bound lane and struck a car operated by Archibald A. Browne, 25, 19 Bank Street. Ms. Drago was ticketed by Ptl. Monica Sheehan for failing to keep right.

Mr. Browne went to the Medical Center for treatment of facial injuries. Both cars had to be towed away.

TWO ARE CHARGED
In Flag Theft. Two 21-year old men have been charged with allegedly stealing an Italian flag last week from the front of the Nemeth Motors building on Route 206.

Arrested by Ptl. John Clausen at 4:21 a.m. and charged with larceny are Christopher J. Leuper, 8 Toth Lane, Rocky Hill, and Mark R. Skevington, Cherry Hill Road. Both were later released, pending their appearance in court.

Police were first called at 3:06 with a report that malicious damage had been done in the area of Nemeth Motors and Wine Hobby Shop next door. Ptl. David Funk was met by a security guard who told him he had seen two young men take the flag down. The officer was given a description.

The area was searched but no one was seen. Police returned to the area at 4:21 and observed two young men who matched the description given earlier and made the arrest. Chief Frederick Porter said that the flag was recovered.

Amanda Dingle, 20, of Trenton has been charged with shoplifting clothing valued at $143.50 on August 14 from Iris, 24 Witherspoon Street.

Police received a call Thursday afternoon from a clerk at Iris reporting that she had just seen the person who had shoplifted the clothing on the 14th walking down Witherspoon Street. Ptl. Randy Sutton and Ptl. James Stanton responded and arrested the suspect on nearby Hulfish Street. She is scheduled to appear in Borough court September 20.

Jayson Wieniger, 31, no known address, was arrested last week and charged with trespassing on the university campus. He had been apprehended by University Security.

During processing at Borough headquarters, he was found to be in possession of under 25 grams of marijuana. A check with the National Crime Information Center also revealed that State Police had a contempt of court warrant for his arrest from the Plainsboro Municipal Court. He was later turned over to the State Police.

Faces Liquor Charge. William Hall of Trenton, a clerk at Nassau Liquors, 94 Nassau Street, is scheduled to appear on court September 20 to answer a police charge that he sold alcoholic beverages to a minor.

Det. Charles Harris last week observed a 17-year old juvenile enter the liquor store and buy some beer. He then joined a 15-year old youth in front of Nassau Hall on the university campus across the street. When confronted by Det. Harris they both revealed their ages.

Mr. Hall was later identified and charged.

PDS TO OPEN
With 865 Students. Princeton Day School will open its 1978-79 academic year next week with a capacity enrollment of approximately 865 students -- the maximum established by the board of trustees, according to headmaster Douglas O. McClure.

A special orientation program for the 34 new students in the upper school and for all members of the ninth grade will be held on Monday at 10:30 a.m. Open House for new students and parents in the middle and

'My Moped Was Stolen,' He Tells Police, Who Find He Misappropriated It Himself

Some kids today sure have a lot of brass, observed Chief Michael Carnevale, as he reported the incident of a stolen moped.

Friday afternoon, a 17-year old Hightstown youth came to headquarters, reporting that his moped had been stolen from the Palmer Square area. He gave the desk officer a description.

What he didn't know was that the purple moped he was describing had been confiscated a few hours earlier by Borough police on Nassau Street near Palmer Square after a Borough resident had told police that it looked very much like his black and yellow moped that had been stolen two days earlier in the Nassau-Witherspoon Street area. The same except for the color and the fact the serial numbers had been tampered with.

Ptl. William Clark pressed forward with the police investigation. At first the Hightstown youth attempted to convince him it was his moped, but later police report they were able to determine that he had altered it. The youth allegedly admitted repainting it.

He was charged as a juvenile delinquent, with larceny and with possession of stolen property, and turned over to the Borough juvenile officer.

The moped was then returned to its rightful owner, Chief Carnevale said.

lower schools will be the same day at 2:30 p.m. Classes will start Tuesday for upper and middle schools, and Wednesday, September 13, for the lower school.

The After School Program, a service offered for an additional fee to the children in the lower school, will start on September 13. Beginning when school is over in the afternoon and available as late as 5 p.m., the program offers supervised activities, including art projects, games and outdoor play, science experiments, movies, simple cooking and carpentry work. The program is offered as an assistance to working parents, and to meet the social needs of students who live in areas where after school play is difficult to organize.

Daria K. Lippmann (Mrs. Gerard) is director of the project, assisted by Elizabeth S. Trapp (Mrs. Martin A.).

EQUIPMENT TAKEN

From Construction Site. A Park pool lot. Police said the cement mixer—without thief pried through the window wheels—valued at $500 and a 35,000-watt generator, valued at $900, were stolen last week from a construction site on lock.

Lawrenceville Road near Brurere's Hill.

Police identified the owners as Hulfish Builders of Plainsboro Road, Plainsboro. Because of the weight of the items, they believe a truck was used to carry them away.

A 10-foot, green aluminum canoe was reported stolen last week by its owner, a Shirley Court resident who told police it had been left on the shore of Lake Carnegie, approximately 100 yards north of the Princeton University boathouse. He had last seen the canoe, valued at $80, three days earlier.

A $50 battery was stolen last week from a Balsam Lane resident while her car was parked in her unlocked garage. Police report they have a suspect. A nine-foot square tennis backboard worth $35 was stolen from the driveway of a Riverside Drive resident. Police described it as black metal with a white mesh.

The car of a Morgan Place resident yielded a $140 tape deck while it was parked for three hours at the Community

In the Borough, a set of golf clubs and a spare tire with a combined value of $700 were stolen from an unlocked car parked in the Hamilton Avenue drive of the owner.

A Plainsboro resident left his suitcase unattended for 10 minutes Saturday morning on the sidewalk in front of Quadrangle Club on Prospect Avenue but that was all the time a thief needed to snatch it. He lost clothing and $350 in travelers' checks.

Two 10-speed bicycles were stolen. One, a man's valued at $200, was stolen from in front of 5 Prospect Avenue where it had been secured, and a man's bike valued at $149 was removed late Monday evening from a Riverside Drive driveway.

Stolen Monday from a room in 1939 Hall on the university campus were a $100 35mm camera and a $50 digital clock radio. The thief entered through a ground floor window after first removing a screen.

$40 Shower. A Borough resident lost approximately $40 when his wallet was stolen Friday from a locker in Dillon Gym while he was showering, and an employee of McCarter Theatre reported the theft of his wallet containing $15 from a suitcase left in an office in the theatre.

A thief who stole a wallet from an unlocked car on Murray Place last week discovered it contained credit cards but no cash, while a Spruce Street resident lost only a set of car keys when the glove compartment of his car was ransacked Saturday evening. His car was parked on Spruce.

Loop Buses Change Schedules for Fall

Changes in Loop Bus routes and times will go into effect this Thursday. They were announced this week by coordinator Sydney Taggart.

Inner Loop. This bus will no longer serve Princeton Community Village directly, but instead will provide service to Redding Terrace. PCV residents will still be served by regular Mercer Metro buses, and will be able to transfer to Inner Loop buses at the Shopping Center. Transfers between Loop buses will be free.

The Inner Loop will leave the Shopping Center on the hour and the half-hour and will always travel counterclockwise, instead of reversing itself, as previously. From the Shopping Center, the bus will always be headed in the direction of the hospital.

Outer Loop. The Early Bird Special will begin at 7:30 10 minutes earlier than last year, so that students can get to Princeton High in time for first period. Because of a printing error, the new schedules still show the old times.

Bus fare is 30 cents and exact fare is required. Rides are free between 10 a.m. and noon, after 6 p.m. and on Sundays.

Schedules may be picked up at: TOWN TOPICS, Cox's Store, Hinkson's, Whole Earth Center, all banks, Bamberger's credit department, the Princeton Packet, WHWH, the hospital, Borough and Township Halls, Public Library, YM-YWCA, Center Stationers, Princeton Community Village, all schools served by Loop buses.

TO BUY STATION

At Princeton Junction. The railroad station at Princeton Junction is one of 15 along the line as far as North Elizabeth to be purchased from Amtrak by the state's Department of Transportation.

The purchase price of the station is listed as $31,946. In addition, the DOT will buy the land where the Princeton Junction sub-station stands at a cost of $4,524.

Others to be purchased along the way are those at Plainsboro, Monmouth Junction, Deans, Adams, Jersey Avenue, New Brunswick, Edison, Metuchen, Rahway, North Rahway, Linden, Elizabeth and North Elizabeth.

A $17.5 Million Package. The total $17.5 million package includes 325 miles of active passenger lines, 49 miles of lines with a potential for passenger service and 130 railroad stations. The so-called "northeast corridor" on which Princeton Junction and the other stations are located is not available for acquisition.

The authority to buy the railroad rights of way was given to DOT Commissioner Louis J. Gambaccini by the State Commuter Operating Agency, which is the contracting agency for the state in public transportation. It is contingent authority to acquire the properties by September 18, the expiration of the 900-day option to purchase. If Congress extends this period through next March 31, Mr. Gambaccini can use his own discretion in deciding what to buy and when.

"The purpose of this contingency plan," Mr. Gambaccini said, "is to give the DOT the widest possible latitude in negotiation with Conrail issues still outstanding, while at the same time protecting the state's ability to obtain the rail properties. New Jersey's ability to exercise the option and purchase rights of way at opportune costs, is critical when measured against future energy and pollution considerations."

REGISTRATION DUE

For YWCA Fall Classes. The YWCA will hold its fall program registration on Saturday from 9 until 2:30 and on Monday from noon until 8:30, a change from previous Monday registrations.

Serving women and girls in the Princeton Area, the YWCA will offer 127 different programs this fall, with several sections and time options in many of the programs. Youngsters begin at the YWCA in toddler programs, geared to giving them an opportunity to learn how to express themselves, interact within a group of children their own ages, and adjust to an outside experience before beginning school.

Grade school girls can avail themselves of the many programs in arts and crafts, music and cooking as well as gymnastics, swimming, diving, judo and many other physical education programs. The YWCA teenagers will sew new fashions, cook, make holiday crafts, compete in swimming, gymnastics and many other sports, including volleyball.

Along with the many artistic and handcraft programs offered in the adult department, the focus this fall is on women's services. The development of self image and clarification of values is covered through programs such as assertiveness training and values clarification. The "Mother Person" will focus on the personal identity of the mother and her personal needs, while "Home Management" and "The Busy Woman" will attempt to simplify management of the household and offer job management training.

Creative speech workshop offers women the opportunity to learn the art of coherent and concise expression using proper voice control and eye contact. Once mastered, this course can be most helpful in a course in public affairs issues, led by the League of Women Voters and covering discussions on such topics as the ERA, legal status of women, lobbying techniques, consolidation of the Princeton and energy.

The Health and Physical Education Department has several classes for each age and interest, from improving one's figure to developing grace and poise through dance, self defense, competitive sports. There is an Expeditionary Club for teens offering hiking, canoeing and camping skills; fitness classes for mature adults; yoga; prenatal exercise for mothers-to-be; "Joggers Delight" for the ambitious runner who wants company; water exercise, plus a full measure of Red Cross courses for all ages.

Brochures are available at the YWCA. For information, call 924-4825 ext. 13.

was shattered early Saturday evening while it was traveling toward a red house on the corner. He reported the incident and Ptl. David Funk is investigating.

The driver, Vincenzo Ucci, 54 Penn Lyle Road, Princeton Junction, told police he was near the intersection of Guyot Avenue, when something struck the window and shattered it. He stopped, he report tomatoes had also been continued, and saw two black youths with a BB gun run toward a red house on the corner. He reported the incident and Ptl. David Funk is investigating.

THIRD GALA SET

For Tennis Scholarships. The Youth Tennis Foundation will hold its third annual gala fundraiser at Morven, the governor's mansion, on September 16, from 5:30-10:30.

Appropriately titled the "Tennis Ball," the event will benefit the YTF scholarship fund. Guests will be treated to valet parking, a cocktail hour, a gourmet sit-down dinner and entertainment.

Deborah Stovall and Barbara Feldkamp are co-chairmen of the event, with committees headed by Miles Dumont and Wendy Hopper, steering; Nancy Young, invitations; Elsa Soderberg, reservations; Phyllis Marchand, publicity; Kate Bagle and Judy Rulan-Miller, decorations; John Zorzi, staging; John Gellner, bar; and John Moran, bartenders.

Yellows, oranges and other fall colors will be used in the decorations as well as recycled tennis ball cans. Peter Vielbig of Princeton Caterers will prepare a menu consisting of beef Bordelaise, green beans amandine, rice pilaf, rolls, green salad with fall N.J. tomatoes and apple pie for dessert, either a la mode or with cheddar cheese.

The Sandy Maxwell "Service Ace" trio will provide the dance music. The musical entertainment will feature Lee Bristol and Diana Crane, as well as the Boudinotes singing group and its male counterpart, the Nassoons.

The Youth Tennis Foundation is a non-profit organization under the direction of Eve Kraft and John Conroy and is nationally known for its leadership in the education of children and adults to the world of tennis. It has served as a pilot program for teaching group tennis throughout the country.

Call the YTF office at 924-4343 for information. A limited number of reservations at $25 per person are available.

24 BIRTHS LISTED

By Medical Center. There were eight boys and 13 girls born in the Medical Center at Princeton in the week ending September 1.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Wright, 67 Leigh Avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Fasano, 157 Princeton Arms South, Cranbury, both on August 26; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Winberg, 19 Donald Avenue, Kendall Park; Mr. and Mrs. Steven Neiss, 863 Jamestown Road, East Windsor, both on August 28; Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Navak, 10 Maple Stream Road, East Windsor, August 29;

Also to Mr. and Mrs. Pritkvi Bhalla, Wynbrook West J-15, Hightstown, August 30; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Merce, 2 Dixmont Avenue, Trenton, August 31; and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Belanger, Box 96, Princeton Junction, September 1.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barber, 3318 Quakerbridge Road, Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Overton, 18 Paul Avenue, Kendall Park; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller, 6 Zimm Lane, Jackson, all on August 28; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Galubitsky, 34 Edwards Place, Mr. and Mrs. Micha Levne, Westerlea Rooms, Apartment 8, Hightstown, Mr. and Mrs. John Veenstra, 12 Stackton Road, Kendall Park, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Sullivan, 3 Titus Avenue, Lawrenceville, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cavanaugh, 55 Littlebrook Road, all on August 29.

Also to Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Snider, 91 Conover Road, RR 4, Robbinsville, THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT: Lee Bristol at the piano, Bev Gellner of the Boudinotes and Diana Crane, known for her comedy skits with the Inn Cabaret, will provide the entertainment with the Nassoons during the Tennis Ball at Morven Saturday, September 16, for the benefit of the Youth Tennis Foundation's Scholarship.

Crossing Guards Needed

The Borough police department needs three school crossing guards to work approximately two hours a day. Beginners get $4 an hour and there are longevity increments up to $9.50 a day.

Those interested—male or female—are urged to call the police department for more information. The number is 924-4141.

August 30; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Runyon, 8 Tiffin Road, Kendall Park; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Maurer, 1303 Brunswick Avenue, Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Gary J. Lester, 507 White Pine Circle, Lawrenceville; and Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Warner, 256 Hickory Corner Road, East Windsor.

BARN DANCE SET

By Watersheds Group. The Stony Brook Millstone Watershed Association will hold a barn warming and dance Saturday, September 16, from 5-9:30 in its newly renovated small barn.

Jerry Kaplan, folk dance leader of the Friday Night Live Group in Princeton and a teacher in the Lawrenceville Adult School, will lead an evening of learn-as-you-go folk dancing beginning at 7. Caroline Mosely, guitarist, singer and teacher, will entertain during the evening. The public is invited, and families and friends are encouraged to come early and bring a picnic.

There will be field trips on the circle and old field trails, environmental games on the green and a showing of microphotographs of pond creatures by Tom Adams, a junior high school teacher in Princeton, whose recent article in "Changing Challenge" highlighted life in the Reserve Pond.

The barn warming and dance not only celebrates the completion of the small barn but also will help defray the cost of a heater. The reconstruction of the small barn was planned by Mrs. Abbot Low Moffat, a trustee of the Association, after discussion of the needs of the teachers who use the property.

The barn warming and dance committee is co-chaired and Mrs. Robert Cavanaugh, by Mrs. Jay Bleiman and Mrs. William T. Liffand. The Watershed's reserve is on Wargu Road, Hopewell.

BUT WHERE'S THE HOLLANDAISE? Vegetables like foot long green beans, fat squashes and esoteric things known only to beetles, were entered over the Labor Day week-end in the Nassau Inn's vegetable contest. First Fire, Now Flood Control Prove Threats To Future Existence of Old Princessville Inn

The 170-year old Princessville Inn on Princeton Pike has been ravaged by time, weather and termites to the point of near collapse. Last spring, its existence was threatened when the Lawrence Township Fire Department wanted to put it to the torch as an exercise for its members.

The plight of the old stage coach stop has quickened efforts on its behalf by the Lawrence Historical Society and has aroused public support. And in an ironic twist, the old structure, just because of its historic significance, may stand as an obstacle to the proposed construction of a dam on Shipetaukin Creek and the creation of a 110-acre lake on uninhabited land across the road.

The federal Soil Conservation Service, a wing of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, wants to build the dam to try to put an end to the continual flooding of the Assunpink Creek in Trenton and Hamilton Township. The Assunpink overflows its banks in every heavy rainstorm. The worst flooding in recent years occurred in July, 1975 when whole streets were under several feet of water.

The Soil Conservation Service has spent 15 years and tens of millions of dollars building seven dams on the 22-mile long Assunpink and its tributaries to try to correct the situation. Damming the Shipetaukin Creek in Lawrence Township, which empties into the Assunpink, would help flooding problems in Lawrence only minimally, but most Lawrence Township officials favor the construction of the dam to help neighboring townships.

A Recreational Aid, Mayor Joseph Dalle Pazzi points out that the flooding is a regional problem, not a local problem. "I'm committed to the dam, and I think we should do our share," he says. Moreover, the lake behind the dam would be useable for boating, fishing and swimming, and the surrounding land for picnicking and hiking.

The plan calls for a lake of about 110 acres on land lying between Princeton Pike, Lewisville Road, Fackler Road and the Lawrenceville School. Lawrence Township would purchase the land or easement rights using Green Acres and County funds, and the federal government would pay the cost of building the 20-foot earthen dam, estimated at $300,000.

Historic Impact Overlooked. However, in 15 years of surveying land and filing economic impact reports, federal officials overlooked the Princessville Inn quietly rotting away on the sidelines. It is against state and federal law to disturb or change the area surrounding buildings or properties designated historic.

At a recent public meeting to determine whether the inn is in conflict with the construction of Dam Site 7-A as the proposed dam is known technically, or whether the dam would affect the inn, no one could come up with the answer.

proval from his agency. But he refused to make his personal opinion official and warned that his agency would not make a final decision until it had reviewed the official application.

Mayor Dalle Pazzi, who had expected a definitive answer, even suggested that one alternative might be putting the question of whether the Inn should be salvaged on the November 7 ballot. Lawrence Township owns the building, and Mr. Dalle Pazzi will not turn it over to the Historical Society, which is anxious to begin restoring it before it falls down, until he is assured that it will not stand in the way of the dam.

REGISTRATION SET

UNFINISHED FURNITURE

Shown in vast selection. Erney's Unfinished Furniture is a warehouse-sized store in Mercer Mall that stocks an enormous collection of pieces in a wide variety of styles for every room in the house. Beds, bookcases, bars, cabinets, chairs, chests, cupboards, desks, dry sinks, hutches and tables are shown in variations of early American, contemporary, traditional and French Provincial designs. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Greene, the hospitable couple responsible for this panoramic display, are present to assist you in every way.

Mr. Greene, president of Erney's Unfinished Furniture, Inc., has seen unfinished furniture grow from budget-priced, unimaginatively designed furniture to well-designed furniture of major importance.

People have always bought unfinished furniture to save money, but today's well-designed custom-made pieces in solid wood, lovingly hand finished by the customer, become furniture with heritloom quality. Wood, by its very nature is ageless, and can always be repaired and restored.

In addition to the custom made pieces, there is factory produced furniture in a wide range of qualities and prices with the same versatility and fine design, that saves you money because you stain, paint or wax it yourself. Woods used are pine, maple, aspen, poplar, oak, European beech, rattan and bamboo. All pieces are sold on a price-for-quality basis.

Tables. Round, country style pedestal tables of heavy pine, four legged tables with round tops or drop leaves, butcher's chopping block tables and Parsons tables in several sizes are some of the many choices. Trestle tables extend to hold two leaves, gliding apart on ingenious metal gears. Occasional tables include antique reproductions such as the dainty tilt-top table in maple, with scalloped edges and pedestal base.

Chairs. Graceful bentwood rockers are imported from Europe. Traditional American rocking chairs are loop-back Windsors, Carolina oak rockers and a reproduction of Jack Kennedy's back-supporting oak rocker. Traditional straight chairs, including high chairs and youth chairs, are ladderbacks, captain's chairs and mates, Windsors, Duxbury chairs and peacock chairs in rattan. Contemporary design is represented by Danish modern and Viking.

Desks. Spacious roll top desks are shown in eight different styles with colonial or campaign hardware. Captain's desks, paymaster's desks, English style kneehole desks, slant top desks, some with traditional secretary tops, are all popular selections. Desk bases with drawers and file cabinets can be used with any size top.

Chests, Cupboards, Cabinets. Armoires, night stands, chest on chests, gun cabinets with glass doors, a curio cabinet with a mirror in back, a complete line of kitchen cabinets with various types of hardware and a choice of formica tops are all on display.

There are a dozen corner cupboards, most in traditional styles. The old-fashioned oak china cupboard with rounded comeback; a French Provincial six-drawer lingerie chest has unusual charm.

Hutches, Dry Sinks, Bookcases. Hutches, open cupboards with cabinet or drawer bases, are sometimes shown with mirrored backs. Dry sinks are used as serving pieces or bars. Bookcases have the option of cabinet bases and fixed or adjustable shelves. A three-shelf, fold-up bookcase, ideal for college students, transports easily and is designed for stacking.

Beds, Bars. Beds can be purchased in every size and several styles — captain's beds with three-drawer storage, platform beds, and bunk beds with spindle turnings or solid, heavy posts. Headboards are shown with spool turnings, reeded posts, bookcases, or fashioned from rattan. Bars are large or small, rounded or straight, made of wood or tufted vinyl, with matching back bars to hold glassware.

Children's Furniture. In addition to the bunk beds, which children love, you'll find small-scale tables, chairs, rockers and wooden wardrobe cabinets. Deacon's benches provide seating and under-the-seat storage for toys or blankets. Toys may also be stored in chests, either plain or with a wagon seat.

Accessories. A wide selection of accessories includes magazine racks, hanging shelves, plant stands, etagères, what-nots, mirrors, old-fashioned tea carts, turned wooden bases for lamps, and old-time wooden porch swings. A jointed wooden man serves as a chair, cocktail table or plant stand, and is a great conversation piece.

Services and Supplies. Bookcases and Parsons tables can be ordered in any size. A furniture finishing department will complete an unfinished piece for you, using polyurethane over the paint or stain for a satiny finish that is resistant to heat, water, alcohol and acid. Beginning in October, a finishing clinic will be held from 2 to 4 every Sunday, using supplies from the store recommended by the finishing department.

Erney's Unfinished Furniture is located at 104 Mercer Mall, U.S. 1 and Quaker Bridge Road, Lawrenceville. Brian Hill is manager. Store hours are Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Saturday from 10 to 6, Thursday and Friday 10 to 5.

DELICIOUS MUNCHING

At Bagel Junction. Whenever you have a hankering for bagels, head for Bagel Junction. This small shop in Mercer Mall has an abundance of delicious, freshly baked bagels of nine different kinds. Full bodied in flavor, soft inside, chewy outside, they are delicious munching for snacks and meals. Choose pumpernickel with caraway seeds, cinnamon raisin, poppyseed, tender onion, garlic, crusty salt, sesame seed, golden egg or plain.

Take-out Service. Bagel Junction's take-out service offers bagels split and spread with butter, 45 cents, cream cheese, 55 cents, cream cheese and jelly, 65 cents. Hot coffee, Sanka or tea are available, and milk, chocolate milk, iced tea or orange drink can be purchased from the dairy case.

All bagels are 15 cents each, except on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday when you can buy a baker's dozen (thirteen) for the price of 12. Appetizing spreads, so perfect with bagels — lox, nova, nova spread, chopped liver, chopped herring, baked salmon, scallions and cream cheese, lox and cream cheese — can be bought in 7 oz. packages for $1.29 to $1.99.

IT'S NEW

To Us

Continuously Fresh. Baked on the premises, the bagels come out of the ovens every two hours for a continuously fresh supply. Sol Seidner, owner, who has twelve years' experience as a bagel baker, starts the first batch when he comes in at 5:30 a.m. and the hot bagels are ready for breakfast customers at 6. Mr. Seidner's family — wife Martha, son Steven and daughter Dorothy — wait on customers and help where needed.

A staff of three shares the baking. High gluten flour, salt, malt, yeast are the ingredients used in making the dough. After the dough has been shaped into bagels, it is cooked in boiling water two minutes to remove the starch, then baked for 12 minutes. Delicately browned and tender, the bagels are just 100 calories each.

Bagel Junction is located in Mercer Mall, U.S. 1 and Quaker Bridge Road, Lawrenceville. Store hours are 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday; 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

ADVENTURES IN TASTE

At Oriental Grocery. There are many adventures in taste waiting for you at Jane Pond Oriental Grocery and Gifts. From the Refrigerator. Keeping cool and fresh in the refrigerator are bean curd, soy bean paste, salted shelled oysters, dried shrimp, cashew nuts, Chinese cabbage, snow peas, bitter melon and sour mustard greens offer distinctive flavors and textures for oriental meals. Duck eggs, preserved in salt, can be eaten like hard-boiled eggs.

From the Freezer: Oriental style fried or barbecued turkey, turkey turnovers, chicken won ton, fish balls, egg rolls are delicious and different. Frozen fried noodles can trade places with rice or egg noodles served with creamed chicken, creamed tuna or chicken chow mein. Coconut cake, that is really patty-shaped pastry wrapped around a sweet mixture of chopped coconut and cashews, is a delightful dessert.

On the Shelf: Among the many canned delicacies are eels, fish of various kinds, mushrooms, preserved vegetables, quail eggs. Bamboo shoots, a basic ingredient in Chinese cooking, are used with vegetable dishes and as a base for meat dishes. Water chestnuts add crunch to salads and casseroles.

Thirteen different kinds of noodles are stocked, including bean thread, sometimes used in sukiyake. Spices, rice and rice flour are available. Star anise, which looks like licorice pasta, is used in beef stew by the Chinese. Several brands of black tea, jasmine and oolong promise new pleasures to the tea drinker.

Gifts. Pretty paper parasols, fans made of feathers or decorated with oriental painting, white china teapots and cups with floral designs are some of the unusual gifts displayed here. Chopsticks, a variety of baskets, small flower arrangements, sandalwood soap, novelty pencil sharpeners, and several different cookbooks on Chinese cooking, present many pleasing choices.

Jane Fond Oriental Grocery and Gifts is owned by Quong Yao. The managers are Tamas Liao and Shiu Fond. Jenny Chou is salesperson and storekeeper. Located in Mercer Mall, U.S. 1 and Quaker Bridge Road, the shop is open Monday through Thursday 10:30 to 6:30, Friday and Saturday 10:30 to 8:30, Sunday 10:30 to 5:00. Beginning in September, the store will be closed on Tuesdays.

OBITUARIES

Lester R. Anderson Sr., 87, of Inverness, Fla., formerly of Princeton, died September 1 in Citrus Memorial Hospital, Fla.

Mr. Anderson was born in Princeton and lived here most of his life before moving to Florida 16 years ago. He was a retired superintendent at Matthews Construction Company where he had worked since 1915. He was a member of the Carpenters Union Local No. 781.

Husband of the late Ruth West Anderson, he is survived by a son, Lester R. Anderson Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Emma A. Rowles, both of Princeton; four granddaughters and three great-granddaughters.

The service will be held Thursday at 3 in the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, 40 Vandeventer Avenue. Burial will be in Princeton Cemetery. Friends may call Wednesday from 7-9 at the funeral home.

Mrs. Margaret P. Yeaton, 90, of 46 Cedar Lane, died September 3 in Princeton Medical Center. Born in Boston, Mass. she lived most of her life in Arlington, Mass., before moving to Princeton six years ago. She was a former member of Longfellow Chapter 117 OES.

Wife of the late E.R. Yeaton, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Helen L. Mooney, with whom she resides, and Mrs. Pauline Talbot of Tewksbury, Mass.; 10 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

A graveside service was held in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery in Arlington, Mass. Memorial contributions may be made to the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

Jon Zuccarello, three-year-old son of Joseph D. and Catherine Blackwell Zuccarello of 238 Varsity Avenue, Penns Neck, died September 5 at the Medical Center at Princeton.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a brother, Michael J. at home; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman T. Blackwell of Hopewell; and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony C. Zuccarello of Princeton.

The service was held in the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in West Windsor, the Rev. G. Frederick Schott, pastor, officiating. Burial was private. Contributions may be made to Princeton Medical Center.

Matthew J. Witt, infant son of Craig A. and Deborah N. Witt of Province Line Road, died August 31.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Russell and Robert Witt, both at home; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Thora Myles of St. George, Utah; and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Witt of Murray, Utah.

The service was held in a Hopewell funeral home, Bishop H. Steven Wood of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter-Day Saints, Princeton, officiating. Burial was in Highland Cemetery.

Contributions may be made to the Tiny Heart Foundation, 2 West End Avenue, Brooklyn, N.Y., 11235, attention Lucille Bergen.

Memorial Service Set

The Mercer County Bar Association will hold a memorial service on the opening day of the new Court year to honor those members of the Bar who have died during the past year.

Ernest S. Glickman of Trenton will conduct the service which will be held Monday at 11 in the fourth floor court room of the Mercer County Court House, Broad and Market Streets, Trenton. All members of the Bar and the families of the deceased are invited.

CONFERENCE HERE

For Gray Panthers. The Northeast States Regional Conference of the Gray Panthers will be held at the Princeton Theological Seminary in Princeton on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Co-hosts will be the Princeton Area Gray Panthers and the Joint Commission on Aging of Princeton.

The featured speaker will be nationally known Maggie Kuhn, listed by the 1978 World Almanac as one of the "twenty-five most influential women in America."

Ms. Kuhn will address the delegates and guests after dinner Friday night at 8 in the Campus Center of the Seminary. The public is invited to hear and discuss with her the main challenge of the conference, "Society's Sick Health System."

Delegates will register between 2 and 5 Friday afternoon at the Seminary's Center of Continuing Education on Library Place where arrangements for lodging and meals will be made.

News Services Commended.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I'd like to add a word of commendation for the daily newspaper delivery services (TOWN TOPICS, August 30). In these times of less and less personal service and the relentless trend to dehumanizing all business, it's very gratifying to have these daily newspaper deliveries that can be relied upon. I've lived in Princeton since 1950 and have had daily deliveries from the Nassau News Service for practically all of that time without any remembered complaints.

While some of the local banks and the Post Office rope off the customers like cattle, and in some areas firemen strike while people's houses burn, it is good to have these newspaper delivery people who take a personal responsibility to serve their customers even during difficult times not of their own making. It's wonderful to know that neither rain nor snow nor joy of the morning light over Nassau Street will prevent the delivery of the daily paper.

It was with sorrow and astonishment that I read that some people would refuse to pay for the papers substituted during the strike. The substitutions, which I like as little as anyone, are made so there'll be something to have with the morning coffee.

It's a sad day when someone gets penalized for a good gesture. I hope the news delivery people do not get discouraged.

"Feelings of Progress".

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Last year was a really good year for the Princeton Regional Schools. As a system, positive feelings of progress and unity were established. In individual schools, new programs were initiated for the educational benefit of our young people.

Most sincere thanks are extended to our supportive parents, to an involved community, to the newspapers for excellent coverage which helped to accentuate the positive, and, in our particular case, to all the friends of Riverside School! We're most grateful for this active support of our community.

As we anticipate the coming year, we look forward to this very exciting momentum continuing!

RACHEL GRAY
President,

Riverside P.T.O.

Clubs and Organizations

Princeton Business and Professional Women's Club will hold its first meeting of the new season on Monday, September 11 at 1:30 p.m. in the Chestnut Street Fire House. Paul Bunkin will discuss medicare and Medicaid.

A question and answer session will follow and members are asked to bring in writing any problems they wish to have clarified. Those members planning to take advantage of the bus trip to Lancaster on October 4th are reminded that they must register and pay the $11 cost at this meeting.

The club will sponsor a trip to the New Jersey State Fair Thursday, September 14. A bus will be available for 50 persons, and also free tickets for those who will drive on their own.

Call the Recreation Department, 921-9480, to sign up. Departure time is scheduled for 11, return time about 6.

Non-members are welcome at the meetings. Anyone interested in attending this first meeting of the new season should contact Ms. Arlene Waters, evenings 201-874-3220. The club encourages women actively employed to become members. For more information on membership contact Mrs. Sue Rightmire, membership chairman, work 924-4200, or home 201-359-6288.

The Princeton Branch of American Association of University Women invites all interested women to attend an international covered dish supper at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, September 13 at All Saints Church.

In addition to the supper offered by AAUW members, the evening's program will outline plans for the coming year. Study group activities will be discussed by interest group chairmen.

Prospective members are encouraged to attend the first meeting on September 13 to become acquainted with the aims of AAUW. Membership in this organization is open to any college or university graduate living in the greater Princeton area.

Meetings of the AAUW are held on the first Wednesday of each month. For further information call Mrs. Lucy Menefee 924-7051 or 924-2918.

Montgomery Women's Club will open its new year with a covered dish supper this Thursday in the main dining room of the Carrier Clinic Foundation, Belle Mead.

Mrs. Michael Epstein, American Field Service President, will introduce Elaine Lies and Lauren Mosso, seniors at Montgomery High School. Miss Mosso, who spent the summer in Bolivia as an exchange student, is the daughter of Mrs. Augustine Mosso, a member of the club. Miss Lies, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Lies, spent the summer in Japan as an exchange student. They will share their "Summer of 1978" as part of the American Field Service program.

Mrs. William Lodi is the chairman of hostesses for the month. Assisting her are Mrs. Joyce Berra, Mrs. Marilyn Crane, Mrs. Carol Brady, and Mrs. Nancy Dawn Jones. Guests are welcome.

PEOPLE In The News

Thomas James of New York City, son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas James of 45 Vandeventer Avenue, is the founder and music director of a new chamber orchestra which will make its debut at the Roundabout Theatre at 333 West 23rd Street in New York City on Friday and Saturday, September 14 and 15, at 8.

Composed of 35 experienced musicians, the orchestra is called Manticore and is dedicated to presenting the works of modern composers in programs that also include the traditional orchestral repertoire. The first program will feature the world premiere of Princeton resident Judith Shatin's "Arche" for viola and orchestra, as well as works by Mozart, Ravel and Haydn conducted by Mr. James.

A graduate of Princeton University with the Class of 1959, Mr. James has studied composition at Princeton and also at Columbia University where he received his M.A. and Ph.D. in composition. He has taught music theory at Columbia for three years and theory and composition for three years at New York University.

He is past director of the Greenwich House Contemporary Music Series in New York, a past vice president and long time member of the board of the International Society for Contemporary Music, and a past vice president and co-founder of the Composer's Guild.

Manticore will present a series of four programs during its first season. The world premiere of Mr. James's work, "They Flee From Me," with the New Callopo Singers will be heard at the final two concerts on May 31 and June 1. Tickets for the concerts may be obtained by calling the Roundabout Theatre at (212) 924-7160.

Jeffrey M. Rockland of 8 Madison Street is a first year student at Virginia Intermont College in Bristol, Va. He attended Princeton High School.

Margaret Whittaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whittaker of 10 Beech Hill Circle, has transferred to Cedar Crest College in Allentown, Pa. She is a 1977 graduate of Princeton High School.

Margaret Lechner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Lechner, 15 Madison Street, and her husband, William Buskirk, both of whom are on the faculty of Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., are directing a foreign study program for Earlham in Kenya. The program includes courses in geography and land use in Kenya, animal societies, East African ornithology and sociology. Twenty-one students are participating in the program, which will continue until mid-December.

Professor Claude Hill, 245 Varsity Avenue, director of the graduate program in German at Rutgers, has published a new book.

It is a revised and up-dated version in German of his English-written study of Bertolt Brecht which had appeared in Twayne's series of World Authors in 1975. The book has come out in a series of academic pocket books, jointly published by German, Austrian, and Swiss publishers. Professor Hill, whose previous books, articles and book reviews are known in the profession, also organized two international Symposia at Rutgers: one on Brecht in 1971, and one on Thomas Mann in 1975.

The Center for the American Woman and Politics at Rutgers University and the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs, Division on Women, have developed an advocacy handbook, "Lobbying in New Jersey" that describes efforts to influence public policy at the state level.

Written by Nancy Becker of 306 Shadybrook Lane, a program consultant for the Eagleton Institute of Politics and a public affairs lobbyist, (TOWN TOPICS, June 21) "Lobbying in New Jersey" examines how to identify advocacy objectives, understand issues and laws surrounding lobbying, determine priorities, assess an issue's weakness and strengths, devise plans and timetables, and develop effective strategies for lobbying campaigns.

"Lobbying in New Jersey" used to signify payoffs, wheeling and dealing, and arm twisting. Yet today lobbying is a sophisticated craft requiring skills, techniques and expertise to supplement governmental resources," Mrs. Becker points out.

Copies cost $3 and are available from CAWP, Eagleton Institute of Politics, Rutgers University, Wood Lawn - Neilson Campus, New Brunswick, 08901, or N.J. Division on Women, Department of Community Affairs, 363 West State Street, Trenton, 08625

Now serving the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado is Captain Terry R. Silvester, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Silvester of 29 Bayberry Road. A military studies instructor, Capt. Silvester was previously assigned at Ramstein AB in Germany.

After graduating from Hopewell Valley High School in 1966, Capt. Silvester received his B.S. degree and commission in 1970 from the Air Force Academy. He also earned an M.B.A. degree in 1977 from the University of Utah.

John G. Pontius of Rolling Hill Road, Montgomery Township, has been named vice president of Boyden Associates, the largest international executive recruiting firm. He is with Boyden's headquarters office in New York, responsible for senior level searches for both international and U.S. clients.

Before joining Boyden in 1977, Mr. Pontius was advertising director for Conde Nast Publications. Previously he was based in Ind., are directing a foreign study program for Earlham in Kenya. The program includes courses in geography and land use in Kenya, animal

HEAT ON SATURDAY?

Board Will Explore. The Board of Health will ask the Borough municipal attorney to see what legal avenues might be followed to insure heat on Saturdays for non-residential establishments like offices and stores. In addition, the board will write Mayor Robert W. Cawley and Council asking for some form of action.

"As we read the housing code," says sanitarian Len Williams, "office buildings are not covered."

The requests from the health board grew out of complaints by tenants of the 20 Nassau building who say the building's owners, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Vuglen, have announced that no heat will be provided on Saturdays. Owners of shops on Chambers Street and Nassau have told the Board of Health that Saturday is normally the busiest day of the week for them.

Complaints regarding 20 Nassau have come to the health office before, according to Mr. Williams. Dirty lavatories — Mr. Williams says he found two dead cockroaches — and a broken sewer line have been reported.

"It's hard to reach someone with the authority to make these repairs," Mr. Williams reports. "We've always been able to get cooperation regarding these problems, but it took some time. We've also had complaints about heat during the work week. One secretary said it was only 58 degrees in her office and was so cold she could not type."

The Board of Health is expected to take up the matter again at its regular meeting September 19.

NEW MEDICAL BUILDING?

Realtor Is Exploring. Jim Firestone's real estate firm is exploring the possibility of a medical office building near the Princeton Medical Center on the corner of Witherspoon and Henry.

The corner is now occupied by Esposito's service station which is, by the way, still in the service station business. The word "formerly" was erroneously used earlier this summer to describe Mr. Esposito's status.

Several doctors have already indicated an interest, according to Mr. Firestone. He has lined up free-lance architect Len Groom and is actively seeking investment capital.

During the public hearings for Nassau Medical Arts, which unsuccessfully sought approval from the Township Zoning Board for a doctors and dentists building at the State Road-Bayard-Mountain intersection, the Esposito property was frequently mentioned as an alternative site.

Mr. Firestone emphasized that his project is in its earliest stages and not yet ready for any of the local boards.

MERCHANT HONORED

By State Association. Ralph D. Hulit Jr. of Hulit's Shoes, Inc., has been selected as New Jersey Retailer of the Year by the New Jersey Retail Merchants Association. Mr. Hulit was chosen from nominees throughout the state on the basis of his involvement in the community and his leadership in the Borough Merchants Association.

Mr. Hulit was the first chairman elected to head the Borough Merchants Association when it was formed in November of 1975 as a division of the Chamber of Commerce. He has been unanimously re-elected each year. Under his leadership, the Association has sponsored cooperative advertising in the New York Times Sunday edition, in Christmas catalogue inserts in local newspapers and on a billboard leased on Route 1.

The Association has also served as a liaison with the Borough in working out amendments to the sign ordinance, renewal of the Park and Shop agreements and a postponement of reconstruction of curbs in the downtown area until after the holiday shopping season. It sponsors Halloween and Christmas window decorating projects and is working on a unified Christmas theme for this year. It also has established a credit card for Princeton University students to use in local stores.

Mr. Hulit has been a representative on the Mayors' Parking Committee and a prime mover in favor of a parking garage. He is an officer in the Princeton Fire Department and a volunteer with the YWCA After School Program. He will be honored by the N.J. Retailers Association in Atlantic City at Resorts International this weekend.

BARBER SHOP MOVES

To Junction Location. Durner's Barber Shop, which has been on the Princeton scene for a century or more, has moved to a new location at 15 Cranbury Road, Princeton Junction. Under the proprietorship of Robert Panicaro, it opened for business next to the Princeton Junction Liquor Store on Tuesday.

Durner's was in business on Nassau Street well before the turn of the century, serving such customers as James McCosh and Woodrow Wilson. Its last Nassau Street address was 120, where it was operated for many years by William C. Durner and then Lawrence Healy.

Mr. Healy moved the shop to the Palmer Square East side of the Nassau Inn 27 years ago. When the Inn found it required the space last winter, Mr. Panicaro established temporary headquarters at 169 Witherspoon Street before completing arrangements to move to the Junction.

Hours at the new location will be 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday to Friday, with a 5 p.m. closing on Saturdays.

FARE HIKE ASKED

By Suburban Transit. Suburban Transit Corp. has filed a tariff with the Interstate Commerce Commission proposing increases of six percent in all fares between points in Mercer, Middlesex, Somerset and Monmouth Counties and New York City.

The increases would be effective October 1 and would be raised when necessary to make the fare end in "0" or "5." The carrier, which was granted its last fare increase October 31, 1977, says the higher fare is necessary due to increased costs for wages, employee benefits, materials, supplies, utilities, insurance and other items.

Further information on the increase, including the carrier's statement of justification, is available at Suburban Transit's office at 750 Somerset Street, New Brunswick, NJ, (201) 249-1100.

PERSONNEL NOTES

John W. Reynolds, advertising manager at the Cyanamid Agricultural Division, has been presented with a 25-year service award by division president, J.J. Garbarino.

Having joined Cyanamid in 1973 as Animal Industry regional manager in the West Central region, Mr. Reynolds relocated to the Princeton facility in 1967, where he has held various positions within the Agricultural Division's Animal Industry Department.

Charles A. Farrell

A native of Greenwood, Del., Mr. Reynolds and his wife, Nancy, live in Pennington.

Charles A. Farrell of 9 Vandeventer Avenue has joined Short and Ford, architects. He was previously with Keyes, Condon and Florance, Architects and Planners in Washington, D.C. Mr. Farrell is a registered architect in Virginia and worked for several years in Charlottesville after completing his architectural studies at both the University of Virginia and the University of Oregon.

He is currently project architect for Princeton Communications Park. Located on a 28-acre wooded site on Ewing Street, Communications Park is being developed specifically for companies in the communications and design fields. The first two buildings, designed by Short and Ford for Peterson's Guides and Wren Associates, will be under construction early next year.

Richard F. Ober, Jr.

M. Alberta McNaughton

M. Alberta McNaughton has been elected treasurer of Walter B. Howe, N.L. Carnevale, executive vice-president, has announced.

Mrs. McNaughton joined Howe in 1978 as assistant to the company's treasurer Joseph Smith who retired in June. Prior to residing in the Princeton area, Mrs. McNaughton worked as an accountant for firms in Kansas and Philadelphia.

The board of directors of United Jersey Banks has elected Richard F. Ober, Jr., 38 Taylor Road, corporate counsel, to the additional position of secretary.

Mr. Ober has been assistant secretary. His advancement relieves the previous secretary, Richard L. Wines, 5 East Shore Drive, of responsibilities he has held since December as executive vice-president.

Mr. Ober joined United Jersey Banks in 1975, after service with a Philadelphia law firm. A graduate of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University, he earned his law degree at Yale Law School.

CHORISTERS SOUGHT

By Trinity Church. Trinity Church's choirs will begin a new season when rehearsals resume early this month. The dedication of Trinity's new organ will give the choir program an added dimension, and the choirs will participate in a "Season of Festivity" series of choral evensongs and concerts as part of the year long dedication series.

The five Trinity choirs, including the choir of men, boys and girls; the Trinity adult choir; junior and senior girls' choirs; and the Trinity motet choir (made up of selected young women and men), sing for the regular 9:15 and 11:15 Sunday services as well as for special seasonal services and concerts. Membership in the choirs is open to all in the parish and community, and details concerning rehearsal schedules are available from the Trinity office, 924-2277.

James Litton, organist and director of music, says that the choir of men, boys and girls has reached maximum membership, but that a probationer class of prospective choir boys in the 3rd and 4th grades will be organized in early October.

PROGRAMS LISTED

By Jewish Center. The Princeton Jewish Center will initiate its Adult Education Program with a series of three Sunday evening sessions concerning Israel; past, present, and future.

The first session will be held this Sunday at 8 p.m. at the Jewish Center. Recent visitors to Israel will assess the political situation as well as share their impressions of people and places in Israel. Participants will include Al and Felice Gordon, Ken and Audrey Gould, Moshe and Selma Goore, David and Shanny Levin, Marty and Ruth Wolfson, and Tom and Hazel Stix, who have recently returned from a year's stay in Israel.

The program on Sunday evening, September 17, will focus on the background of a key historical event, the Altelena incident between the Ben Gurion and the Begin factions. David Vilkomerson will lead the discussion.

The last of this series on Israel, planned for Sunday, September 24, will feature several speakers representing the Jewish Middle East Study Group, a group which supports the point of view of those in Israel who urge the priority of peace and security over territory. The speakers, Ruth Schulman, past president of the Princeton chapter of Hadassah, Dr. Joseph Rosenstein, professor of Mathematics at Rutgers, and Rabbi Gerry Serotta, Associate Rabbi of the Hillel Foundation at Rutgers, will focus on prospects for peace in the Middle East, with special attention given to the role of the Jewish people in the United States.

All three sessions are open to the public, and refreshments will be served following the programs.

A brochure will be mailed soon to the membership of the Jewish Center describing the complete adult education program for the coming year. According to adult education chairman Bill Engler, the program will offer seminars, courses, workshops, language study, and special events designed to focus upon critical issues facing Jews today, provide practical instruction for everyday use, and study aspects of Jewish history, writings, and culture.

Anyone interested in obtaining a copy of the brochure should phone the Princeton Jewish Center, 921-0100.

DEDICATION PLANNED

For Christian Center. Nassau Christian Center will hold a Day of Celebration Sunday when it re-dedicates the former St. Andrew's Church at Nassau and Chambers Street to the worship of God.

The day will begin at 10:30 with an appearance by the internationally-known Gospel singing group, The Couriers. The dedication service at 3 will feature the gospel singer and musician Dave Boyer, and the Rev. Ben Crandall of Brooklyn, N.Y., will speak.

To conclude the day, there will be an organ recital beginning at 6:30 with Christine Benda and Colon Robinson. Chaplain Ray Caulder will share a meditation. The public is invited to all the activities, but especially to the dedication service at 3.

The stone sanctuary was built in 1868 and known for nearly 100 years as Second Presbyterian Church. Woodrow Wilson worshipped there for 15 years and was an elder before he joined First Presbyterian Church across the street in 1905 when a merger between the two churches failed to materialize. Renovated, re-dedicated and renamed St. Andrew's Church in 1965, the congregation merged with the First Church in 1973 to form Nassau Presbyterian Church — with a sanctuary at Chambers Street and one at Palmer Square.

Nassau Christian Center has signed a contract to complete the purchase of the historic building by February 1, 1980. Under the leadership of the Rev. Jesse Owens, pastor, the congregation plans to affiliate with the N.J. District of the Assemblies of God. Mr. Owens has served as pastor of two churches in New Jersey and was youth director for the Assemblies of God for five years.

BULLETIN NOTES

A Street Fair and Craft Show will take place Saturday, from 9 to 4 on the lawn of the United Methodist Church, corner of Nassau and Vandeventer Streets. The fair will feature handcrafted items and home-baked goods.

The final service in the summer chancel series of Princeton University Chapel will be led by the Rev. Dr. Conrad H. Massa, of the Third Presbyterian Church, Rochester, N.Y. Dr. Massa, an alumnus of Columbia University (A.B.) and Princeton Theological Seminary (Ph.D.), has recently joined the faculty at the Seminary in the Department of Preaching and as Dean - Elect of Field Education. His sermon topic will be "Visions and Illusions."

Sunday morning services and Sunday School at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Bayard Lane, will return to the regular hour of 11 a.m. from the summer hour of 10 a.m. beginning this Sunday. The regular Sunday evening service continues at 7:30.

Wednesday evening testimony meetings are held throughout the year at 8:15. All services are open to the public.

The Prince of Peace Lutheran Church on Hightstown Road in Princeton Junction will return to its regular hours on Sunday when worship will begin at 11 followed by a coffee fellowship at noon. During the church service a nursery is available for young children as well as a Sunday School class for children 3 and 4 years old. The regular Sunday School for children 5 years old in adult meets each Sunday at 9:45.

For information on the Sunday School, call the superintendent, Mrs. Marilyn Roessler, at 799-1706. The pastor, the Rev. Frederick Schott, will answer any questions at 799-1753 or 799-1783.

Princeton Christian Women's Club will hold its annual Country Fair Brunch on Thursday, September 14, from 9:30 to 11:30 at the Nassau Inn. All women attending are asked to bring homemade crafts to display and to be judged. Each person is also asked to bring a small handmade gift to exchange at her table.

The Rug Crafters of Quakerbridge will have a special feature, Flo Matheson will provide the music, and Alice Helstrom will be the guest speaker. A free nursery is provided for toddlers and pre-schoolers at United Methodist Church, Nassau and Vandeventer.

Price for the brunch is $5 per person, and reservations should be made in advance. For tickets or information please call 443-1239, 799-1484 or 297-1794.

The Blawenburg Reformed Church, Route 518 in Montgomery Township, will hold its annual roast beef dinner on Saturday, September 30, from 5 - 8. Tickets may be purchased at the door. For adults, they are $5.25, for children under 12, $3, and children under 5, free.

For further information, call 466-3196.

Church of the Messiah. Beginning September 10, the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, 407 Nassau Street, will return to its fall schedule of services at 8:30 and 11 a.m. Adult Bible study and Sunday School will meet at 9:30.

NEW LISTING HOPEWELL

Victorian with a youthful flair, in a desirable borough location. Open front porch, double door entry to a crisply decorated hall, which opens on one side to a living room with sunny sitting alcove flanked by shelves and an attractive dining room with chair rail on the opposite side. At the end of the hallway is a brightly painted kitchen with butcher block breakfast bar, ample cupboards and a large family dining area with laundry tucked behind shutter doors. Large powder room with stall shower on the 1st floor. Up the carpeted stairway are three prettily papered bedrooms, ample closets and linen storage and a full bath. Full basement with storage room. In the back yard is a brick patio for entertaining and relaxing in the shade. There's a large garden area and a brick path leads to a barn large enough to house two cars with a loft for storage. The back of the property abuts a dead-end street where children may ride bikes or play safely. Excellent choice for a young family! $98,500.

SMALL TOWN LIFE

Consider enjoying a house built for easy living—complete with a charming back porch for late summer & autumn barbeques! The house is practically maintenance-free, with a partly-brick exterior. On the side the large entry has a slate floor, the living room has a floor-to-ceiling brick fireplace. The kitchen is modern and beautifully arranged, off the kitchen is laundry room and mud room suitable for dinette. Three bedrooms, and two baths are on the same level. In the basement is another fireplace, and shelves. Rent with an option to purchase or offer in the 80's

EXPANSIVE LAWNS

The grounds of this "Brookstone" house are lovely, bordered by mature trees and interspaced with specimen plantings. The house itself is really planned for active living—the living room, library, large recreation room, and panelled billiard room will allow for a variety of interests. There are four bedrooms, and two full and two half baths.

MEDICAL RENTALS

Two medical offices on North Harrison Street, each with approximately 1000 sq. ft. plus ample parking for patients and staff. Call for details.

OFFICE SPACE

One room office in our Building $90 per month available immediately.

HOUSE RENTALS

Four Bedroom Split on Longview Drive, $700 available in October.

LAND, LAND, AND LAND

Plenty of acreage for an estate—see this property off Carter Road, with a small stream running through, and you'll want it $15,000 per acre

BARGAIN PRICE FOR A CLASSIC IN-TOWN HOUSE!

Spectacular, fascinating, gracious, outstanding, enchanting, delightful—a most appealing house! The bright and airy living room has a handsome marble fireplace and wooden mantle, in the dining room a pastoral scene adorns the walls above the chair rail. An attractive library opens onto a well-landscaped patio. A curving staircase leads from the gracious foyer to five oversized bedrooms, one with a fireplace, and three full baths. A fantastic buy for $215,000!

ATTRACTIVE AND CONVENIENT

Hoping for a comfortable house in a lovely and quiet part of Lawrence Township? Need a house convenient to commuting via Route 1 or Route 206? Wish you had good schools for your young children? Come see our ideal listing in Nassau II! You'll find a formal living room and formal dining room, a delightful family room, eat-in kitchen, 3 bedrooms, 2½ baths, lots of extras, and a beautifully private back terrace. We'll enjoy showing you this gem! $72,000

This lovely ranch-style house is perfect for a couple who enjoy entertaining with graciousness. The spacious living room has a fireplace and two picture windows with window seats. The library has a handsome stone floor, another fireplace, mahogany panelling, built-in bookcases and three picture windows. To round out your entertaining pleasures, there is a large patio leading to a beautiful pool. The setting is priceless—the entrancing Tall Timbers area. But descriptions are not enough—this house must be seen to be fully appreciated $169,500

Lamaze Method of 'Prepared' Childbirth, Now Largely Followed At Medical Center, Involves Participation of Entire Family

"It's not just the birth of a child, it's the birth of a family," said the doctor. "We were pregnant," smiled the father. "Prepared" childbirth, using the Lamaze method, is now followed in 75 percent of the deliveries at the Medical Center at Princeton, according to Dr. J. Anthony Dede, obstetrician on the staff.

Lamaze is not the same as "natural" childbirth. Deborah Stovall and Audrey Bennett, two certified Childbirth Educators who teach Lamaze, want to make that very clear. "Lamaze prepares you, teaches you to know what's happening to your body, but it doesn't rule out any help you may need along the way," they emphasize.

A Partner Needed. Lamaze also involves—indeed, requires—a partner, usually the father of the child, who takes the Lamaze classes along with the mother. But if the father doesn't happen to be home when labor begins, the Lamaze teacher will be in the labor room until he arrives.

It was 18 months ago that the Medical Center offered space in "Merwick," the hospital's extended-care unit, to Ms. Stovall and Ms. Bennett for Lamaze classes; however, they and other teachers in the American Society for Prophylaxis in Obstetrics (Princeton Area), have been working with the Princeton Medical Center for a decade or so. Ms. Stovall and Ms. Bennett both began teaching in the late 1960s.

"Lamaze," incidentally, is the name of the French obstetrician who worked out the exercises and the approach, having observed a similar method in Russia.

Hospital Impressed. "These two teachers approached the department of obstetrics and gynecology to obtain support and brought influence to bear on the administration and there were no dissenting votes," Dr. Dede recalls.

The arrangement is worth outlining, since Lamaze was not accepted immediately by many hospitals in this country. When it was still relatively new, in 1970, however, 100 test couples in Princeton went through the course and, Dr. Dede recalls, "the hospital was favorably impressed."

Mothers and fathers sign up for six two-hour evening sessions which are held in the last six to eight weeks of pregnancy.

"We train physically, mentally, emotionally," Ms. Stovall explains. "We teach parents the anatomy and physiology of pregnancy and childbirth and discuss the three stages of labor and delivery and the breathing patterns for each stage."

"Women practice these breathing exercises every night and that's why it's important that they come to us late in the term. If they had to do them month after month, they'd get bored and stop practicing!"

The Father's Role. The father also learns how he is to support the mother in labor.

"The father isn't just 'there', holding her hand," Ms. Stovall continues. "Each time there is a contraction, he reminds her to 'relax,' to 'focus'—looking away at some object—and to breathe the way she was taught in class."

"Yes," she laughs, "husbands have a 'cheat sheet' they use to remind them what they should remind the mother to do!"

"I had a dittoed sheet,"

"WE WERE PREGNANT," says Ed Scott about the arrival of his and Barbara's Christopher—19 days old when this picture was taken. The couple followed the Lamaze method. Godmothers—so to speak—are Audrey Bennett (left) and Deborah Stovall, Lamaze teachers. Ms. Stovall is the president of the local Lamaze organization and liaison with the national group. Barbara is a graduate student in sociology at Princeton University. Ed will enter Eastern Baptist Seminary this fall.

recalls Ed Scott, who had become a father for the first time just 19 days before he was interviewed. "It listed the stages of labor, with diagrams, and reminders of the breathing pattern."

"When she first had the urge to push, when she shouldn't," he explains, "She had been taught to blow, instead, and when I saw her blow out her breath, I went and told the nurses. I knew she had to 'blow' for two or three more contractions before the uterus was completely dilated and she should push. Doctors appreciate this because they don't have to explain. I'd recommend it for any woman." It was Mr. Scott who had said, "We were pregnant."

In Labor 20 Hours. Barbara Scott had a long labor—20 hours—before producing red-haired Christopher, who weighed in at nine pounds ten ounces. In the end, drugs to speed up labor, anesthesia and delivery by forceps were required.

"But my doctor (Ernest Soffronoff) said, 'I'm going to let you ask me when you want pain relief,'" Mrs. Scott says. "In Lamaze they tell you all about drugs—at 5 cm. dilation, you might want one kind but at 10 cm not the same. I put it off as long as I could...."

"Ten years ago, when women were hung up on 'natural' childbirth, you were a failure if you asked for Demoral," Ms. Bennett recalls. "I am disturbed when women say, 'I only screamed once.' It's OK to scream. It's OK to have pain relief. This isn't a marathon endurance test."

"We're trying to disabuse women of the idea that they're less of a person if they ask for pain relief," Dr. Dede says. "Our goal is a healthy, happy baby and a relatively pleasant childbirth. The more pleasant it is, the better the mother relates to her child and her husband. That's why I call it 'the birth of a family.'"

Says Ms. Bennett: "We prepare the mother for complications that are common—if labor starts when she's fatigued, if it's a large baby, intense contractions."

Three In One Family. "My wife had prolonged labor with our first child," says Peter O'Neill, "so it was very beneficial to us both to understand what was going on. The second two births were very speedy—an hour and a half."

All three O'Neill children—three-year-old Katie, 20-month-old Sarah, and one-month-old Michael, are Lamaze babies.

"Lamaze is so educational!" Mr. O'Neill exclaims. "You learn exactly what a woman's body is going through and it gave me a better ability to respond to Ann."

Having a husband in the labor room as an essential part of the process is quite different from a few years ago when fathers were kept in an isolation ward out in the corridor. Ms. Bennett says women in labor respond to people they're familiar with.

Today, in special cases, a husband can even be with his wife during cesarian section. In fact, Lamaze will offer a course for cesarian patients soon. Once viewed as a surgical procedure only, say Ms. Stovall and Ms. Bennett, the cesarian is "now being humanized, as simply a different kind of labor."

Before parents start Lamaze, they both talk with

News Of The THEATRES

McCARTER IS READY
With Six-Play Season. Variety is once again the theme of the McCarter season. The theatre is announcing a six-play series, sprinkled with names as diverse as Tammy Grimes and Henry James.

"A Month in the Country," the Turgenev classic, will open the season on October 3 with Tammy Grimes and Paul Hecht under the direction of McCarter's producing director, Michael Kahn. Mr. Kahn will direct the second play as well. It is the world premiere of "Put Them All Together," by Anne Commire, described by McCarter as "a shocking and sensitive play about a young woman's struggle to be the ideal wife and mother." Lois Nettleton will play the leading role. "Put Them All Together" will open October 31.

The first semester will conclude with S.N. Behrman's 1930s comedy, "No Time for Comedy." Gerald Gutierrez — who staged "A Life in the Theatre" last season in New York — will direct Patricia Elliott. It opens November 28.

After the first of the year, McCarter will be back with the remaining three plays. Mr. Kahn will present Michael Redgrave's adaptation of Henry James' "The Aspern Papers," described — again in the theatre's words — as "a masterful tale of greed, deceit and repressed passion."

No Shakespeare this year, but his contemporary, John Webster, will be represented by "The White Devil," to be directed by Mr. Kahn. Opening night will be March 6.

Shaw will conclude the season with "Heartbreak House," opening on April 3.

Each play will be on stage over three week-ends. Subscription information is available from McCarter at 921-8700.

25TH SEASON PLANNED

By Ballet Society. The Princeton Ballet Society, celebrating its silver anniversary this year, will begin classes at the Princeton and Cranbury studios Thursday, September 14.

Registration for new students will be held this

Thursday and Friday between 3:30 and 5:30, and Saturday, between 9:30 and 12:30 at 262 Alexander Street, and The Old School, Main Street, Cranbury.

The 1978-79 season marks the 25th year of the Society under the direction of Audree Estey, founder of the organization which has attained national recognition as a dance school and last year had almost 900 students.

The schedule this year includes 71 classes in ballet for kindergarten beginners through adult professional 10 classes in modern dance, and eight in modern jazz. Yoga, Middle East dance and women's ballet exercise classes will also again be offered. New classes this year include two daytime ballet classes for women and a course to teach the craft of choreography which will follow the students' choreographic efforts from conception through performance.

The 16-member faculty this season, headed by Mrs. Estey, includes for ballet Alexei Yudenich, former soloist with the Pennsylvania Ballet; Judy Leviton, who has danced with several major New York companies; Joan Morton Lucas, former Broadway and film dancer, who will also be teaching the new choreographic course; Virginia Griffie, former soloist with The American Ballet Theatre; Lila Brunner, former soloist with The New York City Ballet; Linda Edwards, soloist with the Princeton Ballet Company; Sally Edwards, who has studied with leading schools in New York and the Princeton Ballet Society; and Teresa Hoskins, who has performed with the St. Carlo Opera Ballet in Italy.

The modern dance faculty includes Larry Clark, a member of the Viola Farber Dance Company in New York and recently featured in the New York Times as one of the leading young talents; Sherry Alban, who has served the Ballet Society as dancer, choreographer and teacher; and Heide Bunting, currently performing with Dan Wagoner and Dancers in New York.

For further information and application forms contact Bonnie Wagner at the Princeton Studio, 262 Alexander Street, Princeton, N.J. 08540, or telephone 921-7758 between 10 and noon or 2 and 5 Mondays through Fridays. For Cranbury information contact Mahbubeh Stave, 2 Evans Drive, Cranbury, N.J. 08512 or telephone 395-0711 between 10 and noon or 3 and 5 Mondays through Fridays.

Mrs. Estey said that in marking the silver anniversary it is fitting that the biennial, full-length, professionally-mounted production of a ballet by students of the School — a tradition dating back to the Society's beginning — coincides with the 25th birthday. This production will be given at McCarter Theatre next spring.

"HOT L BALTIMORE"

Players' Opener. A four-play season has been announced by Princeton Community Players, with a November 3 opening night for Lanford Wilson's "Hot L Baltimore." The play will be given again November 4 and 5; 10, 11 and 12 and 17 and 18.

Auditions are being held next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Players' theatre, 171 Broadmead.

Before that opening night, however, there is the Season Opening Party this Sunday from 3-5 at the 443 Herrontown Road home of Karen and Leo Cohen. Anyone interested in the Players is invited to attend.

For the other offerings of the season, the Players have chosen Shelagh Delaney's "A Taste of Honey" for the week-ends of January 12 through 27; Jean Kerr's "Mary, Mary" for March 9-24 and Noel Coward's "Hay Fever" to close the season in May.

Directors will be John Hallowell for "Hot L Baltimore;" Don Gordon for "A Taste of Honey;" Kitty Lunn for "Mary, Mary" and Spencer Gates for the Noel Coward.

CLASSES START SEPT. 25

For Creative Theatre. Creative Theatre Unlimited will open its 10th season of classes, workshops and performances in Princeton Monday, September 25.

Serving Princeton's cultural community since 1969, CTU offers classes for children and adults in all aspects of theatre, performances of audience-participation plays for children with its performance troupe, and workshops for parents and teachers in the creative process.

New this year will be a high school acting lab, meeting Saturdays 10 to 12. Open to all High School students, this course will feature acting techniques, improvisation, play analysis and scene study. No previous experience is required.

To celebrate CTU's 10th anniversary, a special "Mini-Course" series will be scheduled throughout the year. This will consist of one or two day workshops for all ages in special areas of the performing arts.

First in the series will be a two-day mime workshop with Johnny Seitz. Mr. Seitz, who has studied and performed with Marcel Marceau, will hold two 3-hour sessions on consecutive Saturdays, October 21 and 28. Other minis will be in movement for actors, clowning and makeup.

CTU's regular classes will be held in the following categories and age groups:

Discovery Workshops for 3 year olds through grade 1. The 3 and 4 year olds are guided through a variety of creative arts experiences to discover the possibilities inherent in each medium. Students in the Kindergarten and Grade 1 classes are encouraged to use their new-found understanding of the arts to stimulate their own ideas.

Idea Workshops for Grades 2 through 5. In the 2nd-3rd grade class, students use creative exercises to pursue personal idea development within group experiences. The 4th-5th grade class transfers these exercises and experiences to a theatrical context, using theatre techniques to communicate with an audience.

For Grades 6-8 there is an Acting Workshop, where students learn acting techniques to communicate concepts and emotions on stage. "Works in Progress" will be presented throughout the year.

The Theatre Workshop, for Grades 6-9, involves students in a total theatre experience—acting, set design, movement, voice, stagecraft and lighting, with a production in the Spring as a culmination.

All classes meet for ten sessions each term. Registration is in progress, and a special 10 per cent discount in tuition is offered for all registrations completed by September 15.

For further information call CTU at 924-3489 weekdays from 10 to 3, or write to 33 Mercer Street, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

CHOIR HAS OWN LABEL
For New Recording. A new recording by the Westminster Choir will be released in the early fall under its own "Westminster Choir" label. Although the choir has cut 40 commercial records since the first one for Victor in 1926, it has never before recorded commercially under its own label. This is the first of a series which will bring to the listening public both recordings which have never been recorded, and standard works which may benefit from the exposure of a new recording.

"The Complete Motets of Johann Sebastian Bach," a

Auditions Scheduled
Open auditions for the Princeton Opera Association's production of "Hansel & Gretel" will be held Saturday afternoons, September 9 and 16 at 1:30 in the Methodist Church, at Nassau Street and Vandeventer Avenue. Soloists, chorus and dancers are needed for the performances scheduled for November. For more information, call 609-882-6949.

two-record set produced by Horace Grenell, and recorded by R.C.A. Victor was taped in the Chapel at the Choir College, using the unique acoustics of the Chapel to full advantage.

The three days of taping for the recording took place in late April after four performances of the six Bach "Motets" at Alice Tully Hall, Lincoln Center in New York, Philadelphia and Bethlehem, Pa., and Alexander Hall on the University campus.

The performances and the recording were conducted by Wilhelm Ehmann, the founder of the Westfälische Kantorei, one of Europe's best-known and most-recorded vocal ensembles. Dr. Ehmann is a recognized authority on baroque performance practices and the recording strives to follow baroque procedures using small chorus, larger chorus, and solo quartet in combination with choirs of instruments.

"The recording," says Dr. Ehmann, "lays no claim to definitiveness with respect to the performance of Bach's choral music. It intends to bring these masterpieces to life in a way consistent with the musical practices of Bach and of the time which produced them."

For this recording the Westminster Choir was joined by the Concerto Soloists of Philadelphia, Marc Mostovoy, director. Soloists for the Motets are: Anne Ackley, Sharon Alexander, sopranos; Frauke Haasemann, alto; Thomas Faracco, tenor; Daniel Pratt, bass; and Daniel Beckwith, positive. The permanent conductor of the choir is Joseph Flummerfelt.

The recording is now available by mail order at a pre-distribution discount of $15. Checks or money orders should be made out and sent to: Westminster Choir Recording, Princeton.

ART

FALL PLANS MADE

By Art Association. As a prelude to the fall classes of the Princeton Art Association, which begin September 25, the PAA invites members and friends to attend "A Critique with Howard Nathenson" on Sunday from 1-4.

Mr. Nathenson, a practicing professional artist and teacher whose work is part of the permanent collections of many museums, will critique the work of participants in regard to technique, direction, and problem solving. The occasion will offer an opportunity for intermediate and advanced painters to obtain an objective analysis of their recent work and suggestions for new directions and further development.

On Wednesday, September 13, from 10 to 4, a yarn-dyeing workshop will be directed by Joan Wortis, a craftswoman experienced in the textile arts. Washing and skeining techniques will be shown and the effects of dyes on different yarn types will be discussed.

Methods of achieving special color effects will be demonstrated. The workshop fee is $18; students should bring lunch and the PAA will provide coffee and tea.

On Sunday, September 24, the PAA's Annual Open House will welcome all residents of Princeton and nearby communities. From noon until 5, artist members will demonstrate watercolor techniques, sculpture, brass rubbing, colligraphy, and matting and framing.

There will be a special workshop for young people. Members' work, including all media from painting to ceramics, will be exhibited and offered for sale. Refreshments will be served.

All these events will be held at the PAA's home on Rosedale Road. To register for the critique or workshop or find out more about the PAA's fall class schedule or September programs, call 921-9173.

EXHIBIT TO OPEN

Sunday at Medical Center. The Medical Center will exhibit the art work of Marsha Newman from Sunday through October 15. Her work depicts studies of animals and plants and the drawings are done in pencil and pastel.

Born in New York City, Mrs. Newman was graduated from the High School of Music and Art and studied art at Hunter College. After moving to New Jersey, she was coordinator of art exhibits at the Jewish Community Center of Trenton for three years.

Mrs. Newman has been Director of the Loft Art Gallery on Alexander Street for the last five years. She now operates the Loft Art Gallery's new annex shop in Trenton.

A reception will be held in the lobby of The Medical Center on Sunday from 1 to 3. The public is invited.

EXHIBIT OPENS

At Mercer County College. The works of more than 40 painters, photographers, sculptors, ceramicists, and stained glass artists are currently on display in Mercer County Community College's third annual Alumni Artists Exhibit. The artists represented attended MCCC at one point in their careers over the last ten years.

The exhibition, organized by Professor Mel Leipzig of the MCCC Visual Arts Department and Jim Colavita, Exhibitions Curator, with the help of Claudia Tedeschi, may be seen in the Library at the West Windsor campus, Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., and on Friday to 5. The show runs through September 18, and is free and open to the public.

Here's an amazing football fact ... The quarterbacks on the winning teams in EACH of the last 7 Super Bowl games have ALL worn the number 12 on their uniform ... Here are the winning quarterbacks in the last 7 Super Bowls: Roger Staubach (Super Bowl 12), Ken Stabler (Super Bowl 11), Terry Bradshaw (Super Bowls 10 and 9), Bob Griese (Super Bowls 8 and 7) and Staubach (Super Bowl 6) ... Every one of those quarterbacks wears number 12.

Of all the pairs of brothers who've ever played big league baseball, which 2 brothers do you think hit the most home runs? ... Was it the DiMaggios, the Waners, the Aloys, or who? ... Answer is the Aarons — Hank and his brother Tommie — despite the fact that Tommie Aaron hit only 13 homers in his career ... His brother, Hank, hit 755 to give them the highest total by 2 brothers in history

Notre Dame set an amazing football record one season when they won all 9 games on their schedule even though they could never play at home that year ... It happened in 1929 ... The new Notre Dame stadium was being built while the old one had already been dismantled, forcing the Irish to play all games on the road ... Yet they went undefeated — the only unbeaten team in history that didn't play any home games.

PHS Football Team Faces Numerous Problems But Has Its Sights Set on "Winning Them All"

The first of a series of three articles on prospects for the 1978 Princeton High School football team.

"We're going to have to rebuild a little bit but we're going to bust our hump to win it all."

"We're going to try to win it all," qualified Princeton High School football coach Jim Beachell.

"The kids want it. They're one of the hardest working groups I've ever had. I've found that some teams that don't have all the natural talent that others do work much harder; these kids are workers!"

unexpected defections is headed by Tom Seiler, who moved to Connecticut and would have been the starting quarterback. Seiler, in turn, had to fill in last year with no experience when Todd Blackledge, a quarterback of Princeton University football staff.

"I've lost five good quarterbacks in five years," moaned Beachell. It is his contention that for a team to go undefeated, it must have the same quarterback for four years.

As a consequence, Beachell greeted a squad of some 40 seniors, juniors and sophomores, 20 to 30 less than he would like. He was quick to point out, however, that a number of candidates are still working or are on vacation and haven't reported yet.

Three New Faces on PHS Football Coaching Staff

Ray Pettus

Ray Pettus, a 1970 graduate of PHS, was a member of the 1969 Little Tiger football team as a wing back. After graduating, he attended Muskingum College in Ohio, earning his degree in physical education only to find coaching jobs hard to find. An avid softball player — he has been a standout with Center Sports in the Adult Softball League — Ray has done substitute teaching at the high school and middle school. Pettus will join Parker in coaching the large PHS freshman squad.

Mark Perlman

After graduating from Toms River South High School, Mark Perlman attended Salem College in West Virginia, where he was a wide receiver for four years. Presently, he is teaching physical education at the Jordan Day School here in Princeton. Although he has coached basketball and baseball in the Little League and PAL leagues in West Windsor, this is his first high school coaching assignment. At PHS, he will be working with the wide receivers.

Lawrence Parker

A 1971 graduate of PHS, Lawrence Parker was the fullback and leading scorer on the 1970 Little Tiger team with eight touchdowns. He attended Elizabeth City College in North Carolina where he was a linebacker and running back. After college, he had a tryout with the New York Jets and is still playing as a halfback for the N.J. Oaks, a semi-pro team in Plainfield. He is head wrestling coach at Trenton High School, where he was also an assistant football coach. At PHS, he will be working with the freshman players.

"We definitely would like to finish over .500 — just like any other team. Realistically, though, it is going to be tough." Last year, with a punchless offense and a quarterback that had never played the position before, the Little Tigers slipped to 4-5, winning only one Colonial Valley Conference league game.

When Beachell, now starting his fifth year as head coach — he is 19-17 after four seasons — remarked that it was going to be tough to turn the team around, he was being optimistic. Considering the situation he is in three weeks before the opener in Allentown September 23, it will take more than optimism. Beachell faces Herculean challenges if the Little Tigers are going to be winners.

Only Eight Return. For openers, he has only eight returning lettermen — nine less than last year — and a very small junior class from which to pick replacements. The eight are co-captains Kieran Esposito, Jim Harris and John Forrey; Cal Harris, Tom Riemann, Tom Lion, Jordan Paul, the latter an all-conference selection last year at defensive tackle; and Tony Intartaglia.

Moreover, 13 listed on last year's roster either moved away, quit or went out for another sport. This list of PHS FOOTBALL CAPTAINS: More than a third of the returning lettermen on the 1978 Princeton High School football team (8) are represented by the three co-captains. From left are Jim Herris, a 5-11, 160-lb. guard; Kieren Esposito, 6-0, 165-lbs. and number one on the pre-season chart at quarterback; and John Forrey, a veteran tight end, who is 6-0, 170.

SOPHOMORE LETTERMEN: Sophomores who earn football letters are few. Two who did last year at PHS are Ian Broadwater, a 5-10, 190-lb. guard who has been switched to fullback this year, and speedster Mark Adams, 5-7, 145 lbs. Adams will see double duty as a swing back and defensive back.

Big Freshman Turnout. One bright spot, he said, was the 34 freshmen who have signed up, the biggest such turnout he has ever had. That is the future, though, and keeping them is another problem.

"One of the biggest problems at Princeton High," observed Beachell, "is the diversification of interest. With the multiplicity of other activities offered at PHS, some break off, he said. "There is no pressure put on them to stay; many of the kids do, but there is so much good talent that should stay that doesn't."

When Seiler moved, it meant the entire PHS backfield had to be replaced. Not only is the squad thin in manpower and experience, it is small physically. "Our starting size will be light," Beachell acknowledged.

But Beachell is not deterred. "I think we'll be able to hold our own. It's just a matter of how high a price the kids want to pay."

Three New Coaches. As if the problems of inexperience, size and numbers were not enough, Beachell also has to work with a staff half of which is brand new. From last year's staff, Marc Anderson decided not to continue, while Jim O'Neill and Frank Francisco, the latter Beachell's top assistant since he took over, moved across Nassau Street to join two other former PHS coaches, Tom Murray and Dick Wood, on the Princeton University 150lb. football staff.

As late as August, Beachell had only himself, Bill Cirullo and John Halpin. Then he was able to hire Mark Perlman and added Ray Pettus two weeks ago. Three days later, when he hired another former PHS player, Larry Parker, "I was relieved," admitted Beachell. Parker, a coach on the Trenton High Staff, lost his job when the school dropped its sophomore football program.

Still, it means introducing them to his system, which will take time to absorb, Beachell observed. In addition, he must also concern himself with the offense, which had been the sole responsibility of Francisco. In short, to win it all, Beachell is going to need a pocketful of miracles.

No Bruisers. "We have no bruisers in the backfield," remarked Beachell, as he goes about trying to find the right man for all four positions. Senior backs include Esposito, Intartaglia and Reimann and newcomer Charles Kohlyi, who spent the past two years in India, after a freshman year at Princeton Day School.

Kohlyi can do the 40-yard dash in 4.7 and is the fastest player on the team, according to Beachell. Like the other candidates, he is small — 150, 5-7. "He's a very fine boy, well liked and respected," said Beachell.

Two juniors who are backfield candidates are Ian Broadwater, a starting defensive tackle last year who fits into Beachell's plans as a full back this fall, and Mark Adams. Adams played a lot last year, is conscientious, says Beachell, and knows all positions. He wants to play football. Adams can also play split end. Broadwater weighs in at 190 and is "learning fast," said Beachell. Adams is 5-7, 145.

A junior challenging Esposito at quarterback is Leroy Hunninghake, 6-1, 175, the team's punter and kicker until sidelined by an injury.

Sophomores up from the jayvees, all trying to earn a slot in the backfield, include Paul Miles, Steve McDonald, Bennett Raglin, Brian Varvel, Tony Cedeno, Dave Dinella and Tim Martin. The latter two are both making a run for quarterback.

Dinnella, a former midget league player, is 5-9, 143; Martin, who spent last year in California, has the height — 6-1 — but is somewhat light at 145.

"I expect a lot of changes until I find a happy combination," said Beachell about the backfield. The team did not have its first practice with pads on until Friday (Hightstown, one of the two teams picked by Beachell to be in the forefront of the CVC league competition has been practicing since August 1, Beachell reported ruefully) and he won't have any firm idea of what he's got until the first scrimmage next Wednesday against Freehold Borough.

Freehold is a strong team and will be a good test for the Little Tigers. A second scrimmage will be held three days later on the 16th against New Brunswick, another strong team. An opening scrimmage scheduled for Saturday against Manalapan failed to materialize.

For the moment, it shapes up as Esposito at quarterback, challenged by Hunninghake, Martin and Dinella. Dinella, noted Beachell, is a fine passer. "We think he has a shot at it."

The running backs will come from a group including Adams, Reimann, Kohli, Intartaglia, Martin... "we're not counting anybody out," said Beachell. Broadwater will be at fullback with Varvel behind him.

followed by a mere seven victories in his next 18 games. Then came his precipitous replacement, prior to expiration of his contract, by Bob Casciola.

Five more years of losing football, of second - division Ivy finishes, of persistent defeats by close margins, and of devastating trouncings at the hands of Yale, were followed last December by replacement of Casciola with Frank Navarro. But while Navarro is, like Crisler and Caldwell, being asked to restore Princeton football to a level of respectability, he has not been unanimously greeted as a potential conquering hero.

The dissent stems primarily from the extreme degree of loyalty that the highly - popular Casciola generated among his players and his legion of friends on campus and in town. While a 44-8 drubbing at the hands of Yale, climaxing five years of .313 football, could normally be expected to result in virtually unanimous belief that it was time for a change, a wave of mingled shock and irritation spread through the squad when word came that Casciola's contract would not be renewed. In the weeks that eventually led to selection of his successor, the players first lobbied with the administration to have him retained and then petitioned that one of his assistants be named to replace him.

When he had his first talk with the players last winter, Navarro was confronted with the need to calm troubled waters — not because he was Frank Navarro, but because he was Bob Casciola's successor. He met with quick success: Bob Ehrlich, the linebacker who is co - captain of the 1978 team with guard Greg Bauman, told the press conference: "We weren't consulted on the decision to replace Coach Casciola, but we have had a good meeting with Coach Navarro, and I think the questions many of us had are now a part of the past."

A Look at Columbia. Princetonians other than player personnel who have questioned the wisdom of Navarro's selection have raised doubts about his years at Columbia. His four - year record there — about comparable percentage-wise to Casciola's at Princeton — was marked by distinct success in 1971 — a 6-3 season and selection as Eastern College Coach of the Year. It ended two years later with his resignation amid player dissent and defections from the squad, leading to questions here about the wisdom of hiring a coach who had not been able to solve all his problems at another Ivy League college.

Nor are Princeton alumni, a diversely - minded body of more than 40,000 souls, entirely behind Navarro before he has fielded his first team. Letters to The Alumni Weekly have voiced disapproval — intriguingly, his record at each of the three colleges where he has coached can be made to work against him (an overall mark of 70-60-3, not much above .500), or can show ability to turn the football program around in each stint at Williams, Columbia and Wabash. At all three, he was at one time named as a coach of the year.

Nothing involving the lack of unanimity behind his appointment is news to Frank Navarro. If anything, whatever degree of adversity is involved will only serve to heighten the determination of this intense, highly - disciplined individual to succeed here.

Associates in the long row of administrative offices on the second level of Jadwin Gym, where he and his staff have now been working together for a matter of months, are already emphatic about two of his qualities: a high degree of organization in everything he plans, and a total disregard for the countless number of hours he clocks.

No Easy Path. Any head coach moving into a new assignment, with only two holdover assistants, can expect to find more problems confronting him than his peers, who must merely fill the gaps left by graduation of last year's seniors. But among those that face him here this fall, Navarro has three of a most virulent nature:

• For the first time in 110 years of football, the Tigers' first two games and three of their first four are on the road. They will go to Ithaca on September 23 and face Rutgers at the Meadowlands the following week. Then it's Brown here and Columbia in New York.

• Both the first two games must be played on artificial turf. Regardless of the risk of injuries, coaches whose teams normally practice and play on grass dislike the conversion to a different surface on Saturday afternoon.

• The toughest single problem for any coach to solve is clamoring for attention on the Princeton roster. Of eight or ten candidates for quarterback, none has ever started a varsity game and the total number of plays in which the two leading candidates have been involved is 67.

Beyond that, the schedule spells out for Navarro exactly what he must do in the first four games if he is to have a shot at achieving the first winning season here in the last eight. Cornell, the opening opponent, was a 34-0 victim of the Tigers in the last game that Bob Casciola coached. Surprisingly, under the veteran Bob Blackman, the Red was unmercifully pummeled by Princeton, and it is illogical that Blackman can field a vastly improved team from the end of one season to the beginning of the next. If Cornell somehow manages to beat Navarro in his first game, his problems will immediately increase sharply.

Both Rutgers at the Meadowlands and Brown here on October 7 will be marked favorites over the Tigers. If Navarro can keep the margin of defeat to a touchdown or two, he will have done as much as is currently expected; if he achieves an upset, it would be a tremendous plus.

The following week, he will take his team to Baker Field, where Columbia Coach Bill Campbell has vowed the same desire to lead his team upwards that infuses Navarro and Princeton. The loser will almost certainly face defeat in a majority of its remaining games, adding 1978 to a growing skein of troubled years.

Assets Listed. Although a capable quarterback must be found to generate a satisfactory offense — a persistent shortcoming despite the '74 and '75 seasons when Ron Beible was writing his way into the passing records — the Tigers have a number of factors working for them as they begin pre-season contact drills. Foremost among them is ability to start lettermen at every position on offense and at most of those on defense. In all, 15 starters return — the difficulty being that the principal losses are at the skill positions.

If the offense needs a quarterback and a running back who can to some extent replace the graduated Bobby Isom, at least a solid line is ready to block for them. From tackle to tackle, there are two - year lettermen whose ability should give the backfield time to learn the new veer offense that Navarro is installing.

On defense, the ends are gone but all three starters on the interior line return and there is unusual experience and depth at linebacker. In all, eight starters on this unit are back from the team which ranked third in yards allowed among the Ivies last year — trailing only Yale and Brown.

A further asset is the availability of both kicking specialists, Chris Howe on placements and Bill Powers, the punter. Howe did not miss in 13 conversions last fall and was 60 percent in field goal attempts, including a 49-yarder against Rutgers.

Despite the optimism that is invariably rife as the season nears, it is too much to expect the obstetrician and review the doctor's findings. The doctor outlines the various possibilities, gives parents the Lamaze "hotline" number (924-2040) and lets them make the contact on a private basis. Throughout the six to eight weeks, as the gentle exercises and the breathing drill proceed, the doctor checks in to see how everything is going along, amplifies any points made in class ("often, it's the teachers who amplify points I've made myself," Dr. Dede says), and encourages the progress of the team.

ONE BIG HAPPY FAMILY: Ann and Peter O'Neill (left and right) had all three of their children following the Lamaze childbirth method. With their obstetrician, Dr. J. Anthony Dede, they recall their experiences. Others in the cast of characters are pensive Katie, 3; Michael, one month and, steadied on daddy's knee, 20-month-old Sarah. Peter is a lawyer, Ann a former teacher at Stuart Country Day.

"There is no question but that it's helpful to the mother," Dr. Dede says. "Women who have had Lamaze instruction are calmer and therefore easier to help during labor. The presence of the husband is a strengthening bond for the family."

Princeton to make a run for the Ivy title. More firmly established programs, particularly at Brown, Harvard and Yale, make it likely that the best the Tigers can do is move into first division while edging above the .500 mark overall for the first time since 1970.

Even before the season begins, there are indications that Navarro has assembled a strong staff of assistants, men who in a number of cases will improve on the performances of their predecessors. At the player level, there is a somewhat better supply of material than was at hand a year ago. Chances are good that Frank Navarro's first year at Princeton will achieve solid progress toward the degree of competitive football that has eluded the Tigers for so many years.

FINAL SOCCER TRYOUT

This Wednesday. The Nassau Soccer Association will hold final tryouts for its traveling teams this Wednesday evening at 6:30 at the Fete fields off Washington Road.

The NSA will field five teams in the following categories according to year of birth: 1968, 1967, 1966, 1965 and a combined team for 1964 and 1963. All candidates must be enrolled in the NSA's Saturday program to be eligible. For more information, call 921-9448.

FALL TENNISSET

To Start Monday. The Princeton Community Tennis Program's fall brochure is in the mail, announcing a full schedule of classes beginning Monday.

The adult mini-camp under the direction of Doug MacCurdy will be held five days a week for three hours a day at the Princeton Indoor Tennis Center on Washington Road. Three sessions are available: September 11-15, and 18-22, 9-12 noon; and, 18-22, 7-10 p.m. Designed for intermediate and advanced players, it has a limited enrollment.

Adults can also enroll in outdoor classes held during the day and evening. Junior classes will run for six weeks through October 21.

Applications are now being accepted at the Tennis Office, 71 University Place, for all classes. Those having difficulty in meeting the class fees can obtain financial assistance. For scholarship information or further details, call the YTF Office at 924-4343.

LEAGUE TITLES WON

In West Windsor Tennis. Tom Boyer, John Herman and Bernt Midland are West Windsor Township early evening men's doubles tennis champions in the township's annual summer tennis leagues.

Bob Bruschi, township recreation director, reported that the Boyer - Herman - Midland team, after finishing in a tie for second during the season, reached the playoff finals after a close victory over the other team that finished in second place.

Meanwhile, the league champions, Ralph Bloom, Bob Duncan and Larry Lathrop, had gained the finals after overcoming the fourth - place team of Dick Dahl, John DiPolvere and Tony Zucarello, 6-2, 6-2. The final went to the Boyer - Herman - Midland trio in two sets, 6-4, 7-6. The winners will now meet the late men's league winners for the township title.

Jerry Cohen, Gerry Wang and Harry Wyckoff won the men's late doubles league playoff title, 6-1, 6-3, over Ray Giudice, John Perlitz and Rich Skalinski. The teams had finished the regular season in a tie after having battled evenly most of the year. To reach the playoff finals, Cohen, Wang and Wyckoff first had to overcome the threesome of Dan Allen, Carlos Barolt and Hank Jacobsohn, who had finished fourth. They accomplished this with a 6-1, 6-1 triumph. Giudice, Perlitz and Skalinski had reached the finals after conquering the league's third place finishers, Tom O'Kane, Don Rizzo and Stan Tatum, 6-3, 6-0.

Register for Punt, Pass and Kick

More than a million youngsters are expected to participate in the 18th annual Punt, Pass & Kick competition sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League.

Here in Princeton, boys and girls, 8-13, may register at Nassau Conover Motor Company on Route 206 through September 29. Last year, one of those who registered at Nassau-Conover, 8-year old Michael Hunninghake, swept through local, district and regional competition and won the national title in his age bracket during the final competition at the Super Bowl in New Orleans.

Boys and girls will compete only with those in their own age group in punting, passing and kicking. Scoring will depend on distance and accuracy. First place winners in the local competition will then advance to zone level.

Since its inception in 1961, the program has drawn millions of youngsters into competition, an appearance on national television and an opportunity to have their names inscribed on the PP&K plaque at the Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio.
